BULLETIN EXTRA

EDITED BY:
ASSISTED BY:

MARK A. YASHINSKI
JEAN MARKI

MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1991

WELCOME TO THE VENANGO CAMPUS OF CLARION UNIVERSITY!!!

YOU'LL HEAR IT FROM THE BULLETIN FIRST

The BULLETIN is the weekly newspaper of the Venango Campus. It is published every Monday of the semester by an all student staff, under the advisement of Mrs. Susan Hilton, communications instructor of Clarion University.

The staff of the BULLETIN is committed to serving the students and faculty of Venango Campus. Each week we will strive to report accurately on current issues that effect the members of the campus community and to keep the students and faculty abreast of upcoming social events sponsored by the various student organizations.

In addition we invite and encourage students to submit articles for publication in the BULLETIN. Afterall, we are a student publication and in that light our obligation as a newspaper is to voice the concerns and ideas of the student body.

So that we are able to meet our deadline and to operate at the peak of efficiency we ask that all articles, letters to the editor, and announcements of coming events be submitted no later than Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. in order to be considered for publication in that weeks edition of the BULLETIN. Students, faculty, or staff, it matters not no special consideration will be granted on this matter.

In addition to the desire of voicing student opinions and concerns, the BULLETIN is also inviting students with an interest in working in any facet of newspaper publication to see the editor in the BULLETIN office located at room 205 in Montgomery Hall.

WE WANT YOU!

The Editor of the student yearbook, THE PATHFINDER, is looking for volunteers to serve as a staff. If you are interested please contact Tom Irwin at the publications office, room 205 in Montgomery Hall

NEW WRITING CENTER

"The Write Inn" opens September 3rd in room 207 of Montgomery hall. Writing consultants will assist students in correcting problems they are having with grammar, sentence structure, etc. This will greatly serve students who are having trouble putting that final coat of polish on writing assignments before submitting their final draft to their instructor for grading. Assistance in word-processing on the Apple II's will also be provided.

CONSULTANTS NEEDED

Come in, find out how to become one of the trained writing consultants for the new writing center, "The Write Inn." Tentative hours for the writing center are 9:00 a.m.-3:00 a.m. Monday thru Thursday. For more information contact Joan Huber at room 104 in Suhr Library or phone 676-6591 ext. 238.

$ FINANCIAL AID $

Financial aid receivers must meet certain requirements in order to continue receiving financial aid following initial enrollment at Clarion University of Pennsylvania. They must be enrolled for at least part time and must re-apply for it each year. Baccalaureate students may receive assistance from most federal Title IV, and state aid programs for each of their undergraduate years providing that they maintain "normal academic progress." This means that undergraduate students must successfully complete a minimum of 24 semester hours by the end of each academic year, including the summer, before they can be granted assistance for their next school year.

Part-time undergraduate students must successfully complete a minimum of 12 semester hours during each academic year, including the summer, to continue receiving any financial assistance.

A student denied financial aid for any reason may appeal the denial as follows:

1. Write to the Office of Financial Aid, Clarion University, noting the denial and stating the reasons why financial aid should not be denied.

2. The Office of Financial Aid will review the denial in terms of information provided by the student.

3. Following the review, the Office of Financial Aid will report back to the student concerning the appeal.

4. If the student questions the decision of the Office of Financial Aid, an appeal may be made to the Vice President of Student Affairs for a final determination.

COURTESY OF THE FINANCIAL AID OFFICE

ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING

There will be an organizational meeting of the Chair and Co-Chairpersons of the Campus Activities Board (C.A.B.) on Friday, September 6th from 9-11 a.m. in room 228 of Montgomery Hall. The temporary Dance & Student Union Co-Chairs will be elected at this time.

!!!!ATTENTION!!!!

Any student wishing to have their address and telephone number omitted from the Student Directory, please notify Kim Price in room 213 of Montgomery Hall or Frame Office in writing by September 3rd at 4:00 p.m.

There is no failure except in no longer trying.

—ELBERT HUBBARD

WELCOME!

This week The BULLETIN would like to recognize the arrival and welcome three new instructors to the Venango Campus family.

New Associate Professor in the English Department is Dr. Joan R. Huber. She has a B.A. from Duquesne University (earned part-time) and a Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh. A specialist in the teaching of composition, she will organize and oversee the Write-Inn, the new writing center on campus.

Dr. Huber is married to Nardo J. Berardinelli, and weekends they live on a farm north of Pittsburgh. Her hobbies are rockhounding and nutrition. She likes this area because, "My last school—Davis & Elkins College—was in a small town in the mountains of West Virginia. This area is equally beautiful, and the people are just as warm and friendly."

Philip Terman hails from Cleveland, Ohio. He received his B.A. from Ohio State in three areas of creative writing and American Literature. Terman has published many poems and articles in various literary journals. He has taught courses in humanities, literature, and creative writing.

John Greci, the new math instructor has taught at three different community colleges along with Carlow College. He also taught statistics at the West Penn School of Nursing in Pittsburgh through Clarion University. He received his Master's degree in Mathematics at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

C.A.B. EVENTS

The Campus Activities Board of Venango Campus would like to announce the following events:

A Hayride will be held on Friday, September 6, in the Plummer area. Sign up Tuesday, September 2, at the Rhoades Desk. Maps to the site of the hayride will be available at that time.

A Steak Fry will be held on Thursday, September 12, from 4:00-7:00 p.m. at Rhoades Center. The cost is $3.00 for Venango Campus students. An Ice Cream Social will also take place at this time. So, After you have your steak to perfection, make a sundae and enjoy.

PARKING REGULATIONS

Students may park in areas marked STUDENT PARKING only. All vehicles must be registered and issued a permit. Permits can be obtained in the Frame Office at a cost of $2.00. Parking permits issued at Clarion Campus are also honored at Venango Campus.

Backing into parking spaces is prohibited.

Fines will be issued for all parking violations.

Regulations are in effect until 6:00 p.m. each day.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS WANTED

The Campus Activities Board of Venango Campus is looking for students interested in serving on any of the five different committees of the C.A.B. The committees are as follows: Dance, Special Events, Cultural Arts, Student Union, and Publicity.

If serving on any of these committees interests you, contact Kim Price, the Coordinator of Student Activities, in room 213 of Montgomery Hall for more information.

We are looking for energetic, enthusiastic, and creative people who are willing to make things happen at Venango Campus.

WITHDRAWALS

Class withdrawals begin Tuesday, September 3rd at 10:00 a.m. Anyone wishing to withdraw from a class at the University contact the Frame Office.

If you are withdrawing from the University or by dropping classes your status changes from full-time student to part-time student it is important that you inform the administration office.

CREDIT-NO RECORD

Students with a minimum thirty semester hours of college credits may wish to schedule a course as credit-no record.

Forms to enroll in a class as credit-no record may be obtained in the Frame Office from Monday, September 9th, until Friday September 27th.

Math 100, internships, and courses in one's major field of study cannot be taken as credit-no record.

ON STUDENT SENATE

Serving on the Student Senate of Venango Campus can be one of your most rewarding experiences while on campus. If you are the type of person who wants to get involved, make changes, and do something, rather than just complain. Get your petition signed and turned in by September 6, to run for Student Senate. There are four freshman seats and three upperclass seats on Student Senate.

—JANE HORNIER, STUDENT SENATOR

I HAVE NO I.D.

Pictures for new I.D. cards will be taken in room 207, of Montgomery Hall. Your first I.D. is free and is to be used for all four years of college. Each new I.D. will cost $5.00. WHAT'D YOU WANT

AN EDITORIAL: BY M.A. YASHINSKI

Over the past few days, the campus has been buzzing with questions about the upcoming Student Senate Elections. All you have to do is cock your head in the right direction in Rhoades Center, hang out by the Student Services Offices in Montgomery Hall for a few minutes, and pay attention. It won't be long. Your ears will be ringing with questions like: How many credits do you have to be carrying to run for Student Senate? What are the duties of a Student Senator? How many positions are open on Student Senate? What qualifications do you need to possess to be a Student Senator?

On the question of credits, I'm still not clear on that enough to pass it on to you. There is some confusion to do with credits here and credits at Clarion Campus. It just amazes me, though, that even a simple system of government on a small college campus can become so complicated by political and bureaucratic %#@>/!

As far as available positions on senate, I've been told that there are seven of the nine seats open, four freshman and three upperclass. Or, I guess that depends on how you interpret the %#@>/! I spoke of earlier.

When it comes to duties of a senator, I can only go on what I witnessed from watching the senators that served during the previous spring semester. They allocated money for some club activities and for club budgets, they allocated money for some new equipment. They made a landmark decision to allow audio-taping of Student Senate proceedings, so this office could report accurately on what was going on, and they found a way to buy fashionable, outdoor apparel.

Of the questions being asked, the question of qualifications is in my mind, the most important. I've been told that one of them is that the candidates have the hour between 1:00 and 2:00 p.m. on every Thursday during the semester open, so that they can attend the weekly senate meeting. Hmmm, I wonder why the same block of time every week cannot be open on everyone's schedule, so that a potential senator is not disqualified before we even get to look at his or her important qualities. Popularity? Appearance? How they know who they know? I don't think so.

Come on, lets choose our Student Senators on their important qualities. Let's look for honesty, altruism, and conscientiousness in the candidates for Student Senate. I know, I don't want senators who are only concerned with preparing a resume or putting feathers in their own caps.

THE OPINIONS EXPRESSED IN EDITORIALS AND LETTERS TO THE EDITOR ARE NOT NECESSARILY THOSE OF THE UNIVERSITY OR THE STUDENT BODY.

We at the BULLETIN encourage students to submit editorials or letters to the editor on campus or world issues. Letters should be no longer than 250 words in length, and should be turned in to the BULLETIN office (205 Montgomery).

 DEADLINE IS 2:00 P.M. WEDNESDAY

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Be at Rhoades Center Monday and Tuesday, September 9th and 10th at 12:00 p.m. to meet and talk with the students that have been petitioned as candidates for Student Senate.

BSN LUNCHEON

To BSN students in Nursing 340 and Nursing 361, this is a reminder about the BSN Luncheon, which will be held on Thursday, September 5th from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon. This luncheon is to welcome you to the BSN program and to provide some vitally important information you will need to successfully complete your degree.

THE WRITE-INN

The Write-Inn, thenew writing center, located in room 206 of Montgomery Hall welcomed its first Consultants with a pizza party and training session Thursday at noon. More Consultants are necessary before full-time operations begin.

Being a Writing Consultant means helping other students with getting their ideas together, organizing them, and generally writing better. "You work together" according to one Consultant with prior experience; the Consultant gives your writing a second look, more objective than your own. They ask you questions, talk about your paper, help you see where you need more information, where you need to clearer, and so on.

The WRITE-INN's hours will be in the next BULLETIN. Meantime, if you can give three hours/week to Consulting, or if you want to be a receptionist, contact Dr. Huber. Both receptionists and Consultants may use the Apple IIe's for their work; Consultants also qualify for credit. "Come join an exciting program with outgoing, helpful people."

PARKING REGULATIONS

Students may park in areas marked STUDENT PARKING only. All vehicles must be registered and issued a permit. Permits can be obtained in the Frame Office at a cost of $2.00. Parking permits issued at Clarion Campus are also honored at Venango Capus.

Backing into parking spaces is prohibited.

It is also illegal to park outside a parking space. This includes the driveway area to the top lot next to the fire hydrant, the area next Rhoades Center, and the lower entrance to Frame.

Fines will be issued for all parking violations.

CRUEL?
UNUSUAL?

Capital Punishment will be the topic of a special talk at the Rhoades Center Auditorium on Thursday, September 26, at 7:00 p.m. Dr. Jeffrey Barker will speak on "Cruel and Unusual Punishment? Capital Punishment Today."

Dr. Barker is an Associate Professor of Philosophy at Albright College in Reading, PA. His current areas of research include the civil liability of tobacco companies and capital punishment. Dr. Barker is also a member of the Amnesty International USA Speaker's Bureau.

The presentation will focus on the history of attitudes toward the death penalty, focusing on the recent past and on important U.S. Supreme Court decisions in capital cases. He will then consider the leading philosophical arguments for and against the death penalty, asking the question: Should we execute?

Dr. Barker comes to Venango Campus as part of the Pennsylvania Humanities Council's Speakers program, a statewide speakers bureau. Dr. Barker is the first speaker in the Controversy lecture series, which is being sponsored by C.A.B. and Psychology Club.

PLACEMENT TESTING

Any student who has not taken the placement test, especially English, should plan to do so. The Orientation Committee is planning to meet to decide on a schedule of the placement tests on Venango Campus for the year. We will publicize that information when it is available. In the meantime, the tests have been scheduled for September before pre-registration for students who would like to register for Math and English in the spring. As of Fall, 1992, all students will be required to take the English exam or they will not be allowed to register for English III.

Students who are required to take these placement tests should sign up in the Frame Administration Office.

Both tests will be given on Monday, September 30, 1991. The English placement test will begin at 7:00 p.m., and the Math placement test at 8:00 p.m.

The scheduled testing times for the rest of the year will be announced.

SENATE ELECTION

Elections to fill the seven vacant seats on Student Senate were held last Wednesday. There were four freshman seats and three upperclassman seats open.

The open freshman posts were filled by: Steve Horner-Biology Major, Tom Ausel-Business, Melina Zacherl, and Sandy Stanley, both undeclared.

Elected to the upperclass seats were three Nursing Students: Judy Whitaker, Selena Spangler, and Penny Cooper.

On Tuesday, before the election students turned out to meet the perspective senators. Some of the main issues on their minds were the problem of sufficient parking on Venango Campus, and the lack of day care facilities for those students with children. The majority also felt that Student Senate should be concentrating their efforts on the educational issues, rather than the issue of activities on campus.

The students were also asked to vote on whether a student on academic probation could hold a seat on Student Senate. The majority of those voting opposed the measure.

CONVERSATIONS

WITH ED

James Blake

"Well," Ed said, "so the academic year has begun." Ed is my English bulldog. We were sitting on the deck. The evening had that fresh feel of early fall. I didn't say anything—I don't always answer Ed immediately.

"And you will be teaching a class I see," Ed continued.

"Yes."

"Big Ideas" I think you are calling it?" Ed was smirking as he said this.

One of Ed's main problems is his superior attitude. I didn't reply.

"Are these your big Ideas?" Ed asked.

"No, Ed, they're not. Not my personal ideas."

"That's a relief anyway," Ed said.

"Okay, Ed, so what are you getting at?"

"Oh nothing. I was just worried about scale I guess."

"Scale?"

"Yes. What is big to you might not be big to someone else."

Ed really has a lot of nerve. He had his nose up in the air. He was exceptionally satisfied with his comment. He looked over at me the way humans look over their glasses and said, "And I noticed that it isn't a credit class."

"Well, what about it, Ed. Come on. What's your point?"

"I was worried that the non-credit status had to do with the size of your ideas."

Refills on coffee are available, the first one is free all others are $.25.

OPTIMISTIC !!!

AN EDITORIAL BY M.A. YASHINSKI

Since I became the Editor of the BULLETIN last spring, I have on occasion applied a little fire to the seats on the Student Senate. I have no apologies for my words of the past, nor will I dwell on the attitudes in which I wrote them. For with the recent election of new Student Senate members, I am optimistic that there will also be a renewed sense of what the true duties and responsibilities of the Student Senate are. Just like any public servant—and they are public servants—the senate is responsible for carrying out the wishes of the students of Venango Campus.

I would like to congratulate the new Student Senate members and am looking forward to working in conjunction with them to help make the changes on campus that the student body feels necessary.

"Use me!" The BULLETIN is the only form of mass media on Venango Campus and I believe it is imperative that the Student Senate as well as the student body use it to convey and communicate their ideas among their fellow students.

I have the utmost confidence in these new senators' ability to do the right thing, but...

RETREAT ENCOURAGING

Great ideas were generated at the Leadership Workshop/Retreat that was held last weekend at Singing Hills Girl Camp. The retreat began at 5:00 p.m. on Friday and ran through 4:00 p.m. on Saturday. Representatives of the Student Senate, The Campus Activities Board, the various student organizations and the Bulletin assembled for the two day session.

Among the issues discussed were leadership skills, budgeting, and the scheduling and marketing of events. Also on the agenda were several presentations given by members of the faculty and staff.

Upon arrival the group was welcomed to the workshop by Dr. Barbara Reagle and participated in an exercise demonstrating the importance of cooperation. Cooperation, unity, and student leaders working together toward common goals was one of the main themes of the weekend retreat. It was from this line of thinking that the idea of a council, made up of representatives from each student organization, should be formed.

This Inter-Council of Clubs would meet periodically to discuss issues that were important to all student organizations. It was conceived that through the formation of this inter-council, that not only would the conflicts in scheduling events be solved, but it would allow for more unity and support among the various clubs. This support might range from assisting in the planning of an event that another club has scheduled to promoting the purchase of another club's raffle tickets within your own organization.

It was also a unanimous belief that through this council, the student body could become more organized and united. So, in the event, they found it necessary to speak to the administration on a certain issue, they could carry a message from the entire campus, thus having a stronger voice.

The Leadership Workshop/Retreat was organized by Kim Price, Coordinator of Student Activities, and several members of the Venango Campus faculty and staff assisted to help make the retreat an informative and enjoyable experience.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN BY SENATE

On Thursday The Student Senate of Venango Campus chose their officers. Terry Brumbaugh was the only returning senator to be chosen to hold a position as officer for the next year. She was chosen by a majority vote to take over the position of President. The other three officer positions were all filled by freshmen. Penny Cooper will assume the position of Vice-President, Tammy Whitmore will takeover as Treasurer, and Melina Zacherl will be serving as Secretary.

Among other business voted on at the first Student Senate meeting of the semester was the allocating of $400 from the contingency account, to the account of the Special Events Committee of the C.A.B. These funds will be used by the Special Events Committee to pay for the rental of another bus for the Gateway Clipper trip.

After the redent resignation of Jane Horner, there was an additional upperclassman seat open. This seat will be filled by Jean Marki, who was the highest vote getter among the candidates on the ballot.

Ah..h.h! Let me Out !!

BY LUANN DAW

One year ago I came home from buying my books, put them on my table, sat down in the chair, and told myself I was crazy. As I sat there fighting the waves of nausea, a million fears ravaged my brain. Who did I think I was anyway?? How did I ever think I could go back to school, after being out sooooo long? How could I possibly get all the information in those books, inside my head by December? I was sure I had to be brain dead after this many years! Maybe, I could plead temporary insanity and they would refund all my money! Well, I finally succeeded in telling myself that this was a sink or swim situation. I was no longer eighteen and could look at my choices as though I had another twenty years to really take them seriously. Now was the time to get my education! So, I went off to college!

The first week was a nightmare! I didn't know anyone, the other students all looked like they knew what they were doing and if this was an English speaking college, why did all of my teachers speak in strange foreign languages? I was lost and overwhelmed.

It was then, that Shirley Rice approached me. She was then the President of ALO, which stands for Adult Learners Organization. She invited me to their meeting, and I met many wonderful students who were going through the same adjustment problems that face me.

ALO is a club that is there to help anyone, regardless of your age, to get through the semester a little more gracefully. Trying to juggle a family, job, and school work can be a real challenge. Therefore, we also try to have activities that include you and your family.

I invite you to join us at one of our meetings. If you would like to meet other students in the same boat or have any questions about scheduling, classes, or making it through the red tape procedures we will try to help you. Contact me, Luann Daw(President) at 432-7807.

$$ BUDGET APPROVED $$

The Clarion University Council of Trustees dealt with the tight budget situation at their recent meeting, but emerged with an approved budget for 1991-92. Trustees also approved the 1992-93 capital budget request. Both budgets will be submitted to the State System of Higher Education Central Office.

The education and general education budget reflect a small increase over last year's budget, but increases in fixed costs far outweigh the increase. Personnel costs stipulated by contract account for an 8.5 percent increase.

Clarion's state budget allocation from the State System of Higher Education showed a 2.06 percent increase over last year.

Making matters more difficult is the loss of $1.3 million given back to the commonwealth during the past academic year.

The Capital Budget Request approved by the Trustees include:

*renovation and expansion of Carlson Library, $13.9 million *renovation of Pierce Science Center, $6.2 million.

*addition to Carrier Hall, $1.3 million *replacement of windows in six campus buildings, $972,000

Trustees also heard preliminary enrollment figures for the current term which indicate a drop of about three percent.

RESIGNATIONS ON STUDENT SENATE

There were two resignations announced at the Student Senate meeting last Thursday. It was announced that Terry Brumbaugh who was elected the President of The Student Senate, two weeks ago, had tendered her resignation. Dr. Barbara Reagle, co-advisor to the senate, made the announcement and read a letter that had been submitted by Brumbaugh. Brumbaugh stated that due to health and family problems she did not feel she would be able to devote enough of herself to the duties of a senator.

Also resigning his position was Mr. Greg Rex, who had been serving as co-advisor to the Student Senate. Rex, who is also the Coordinator of Rhoades Center, had been serving as an advisor in a volunteer capacity. Rex's job as Rhoades Center Coordinator is a graduate assistant position. He is a graduate student at Clarion Campus studying in the Communications program. Rex sighted his scholastic responsibilities as the main reason for his resignation.

After some discussion and a vote to rescind a motion that had been accepted last May restricting Mrs. Kim Price from serving as an advisor to Student Senate, Price was selected to replace Greg Rex as co-advisor.

Selina Spangler was the only person nominated to fill the position of President of the Student Senate. She was voted in unanimously. The resignation of Terry Brumbaugh is the second resignation of a returning senator in less than two weeks. The resignation of Jane Horner was announced last week. This leaves one upperclass seat on senate still open.

It was announced that the vacated position would be opened to petition for any nonfreshman student, who met the guidelines prescribed by the Student Senate Constitution. Senators were encouraged to recruit interested students and inform that petitions could be obtained either from Kim Price or in Rhoades Center.

If two or more petitions from qualified students were received it was announced that another Student Senate election would be required. Dr. Reagle urged the senators to try and get someone to fill the vacant seat within the next two weeks.

I'M HERE FOR YOU!!

BY JEAN MARKI, STUDENT SENATOR

Hi, I am the newest Student Senator, Jean Marki. If there is any misunderstanding on how I was elected to senate, let me clear it up now. No, I didn't have the most votes, in fact, I had the least. But, due to an opening for a returning senator-I was the only candidate left on the ballot to qualify. But, don't let this fool you - I beleive I am going to make a great senator, a representative, a voice of the students.

As an adult student, I recognize many of your problems: child care; juggling home, work, and school; and learning how to learn all over again. As a student, I recognize all student problems; classes, scheduling, parking, and managing studies. This is not to say, I know your problems, I don't. I do, however, want to here them, and I will relate to most of them.

In order for me to do what I was elected for, I need you, the student body. Let me hear your complaints and problems; let me hear your praises and accomplishments. Let me hear you!

My senate office hours are Tuesday, 8:00-9:00 a.m. The Student Senate is located at room 203 in Montgomery Hall. Or you can just stop me anytime!

Budget cuts hurt state-owned schools

Clarion University and the thirteen other state-owned universities, with a total enrollment of 100,000 students, face critical shortages after budget cuts from Harrisburg.

When funding for the State System of Higher Education fell short of its request, the system raised tuition for in-state students by fifteen percent. When Gov. Robert P. Casey signed the budget, he used his line-item veto to reject $3.8 million in deferred maintenance projects at the universities. Therefore the students of the fourteen state-owned universities suffered a double blow at the hands of the state budget process.

Clarion and the other state universities continue to suffer from overcrowding, rising costs, and chronic underfunding.

Clarion President, Diane Reinhard, said a slight enrollment decline from last year's record 6,618 students has eased problems. However, she warns that future increases without additional state funding could force a reduction in personnel and academic program offerings.

Native American to perform at Venango Campus.

Bill Miller, a Native American singer/songwriter, will be performing at Rhoades Center on Wednesday, October 16, at 8:00 p.m. Miller's performance will include songs from his three albums, and discussion of his Native American background. The event is being sponsored by the Campus Activities Board and the New Mix 99.3 FM.

Admission is $2.00 for community students and $4.00 for adults. Group leaders bringing in ten people or more will receive free admission. Clarion University students presenting valid ID. will be admitted free. Tickets can be purchased in Frame Office, and will be available at the door.

Attention !!**

If you have twelve credits or more and are planning to apply to the Associate of Science in Nursing Program for Fall 1992, you must submit a Change of Status form to the School of Nursing, Venango Campus, by October 15, 1991.

Change of Status forms can be obtained from the Frame Administration Office.

Pre-registration

Pre-registration of classes for Spring 1992 begins October 14. A priority list for pre-registration according to credits earned is posted on the wall outside of room 212 in the Frame Administration building.

It is important that all students meet and talk with their advisors prior to their October pre-registration date.

The Fall 1991 Active Advisors list for all non-nursing students has been posted outside the Frame Administration Office. Students in the Nursing Program have been assigned an advisor through the Nursing Department.

Smoking Survey

The Student Senate is currently taking a survey among the students on Venango Campus to determine whether it is necessary to have a non-smoking section in Rhoades Center.

According to a poll taken by Tom Ausel, Student Senator, of students in Rhoades Center last week: 76 percent were for a non-smoking section, 15 percent opposed, and nine percent felt that smoking should be banned in the dining area all together.

Delegates Appointed

The Student Senate, at last week's senate meeting, appointed nine student representatives to serve as delegates to four campus and university committees. Among these students: two students were selected to serve on the Presidents Advisory Council; One student as a delegate to the Faculty Senate; one student to serve as a student representative to the Faculty Forum; and five students to serve on the Venango Campus Conduct Board.

The Presidents Advisory Board is a board of students who meet periodically with the President of the University, to discuss student issues. Mary Kay McKinney and DeWayne Harbaugh were chosen to represent the students of Venango Campus and discuss their concerns with the President.

Chosen to be a delegate to the Faculty Senate was Cindy Litwiler. The Faculty Senate is a legislative body of elected university faculty members who make decisions dealing with such topics as; curriculum, courses and programs of study, and academic and athletic scheduling.

Peg Shuffstall was chosen to be the student delegate to the Venango Campus Faculty Forum. The Venango Campus Faculty Forum is comprised of all campus faculty members who meet twice a semester to discuss issues which effect the Venango Campus community.

Five student delegates were also chosen to serve on the Venango Campus Conduct Board, which is a board comprised of students and faculty who deal with violations of campus policy. Those chosen to serve on the conduct board are: Pat Zook, Selina Spangler, Sandy Stanley, Mary Beth White, and Tammy Whitmore.

Dr. Reagle also announced at the meeting on Thursday that free emergency room treatment at both the local hospitals was available to Venango Campus students. This service is paid for by the university and is limited to emergency treatment at Oil City and Franklin Hospitals.

Due to a late start and a disagreement on proper parliament procedure, the Student Senate was unable to complete its entire agenda. Issues on the agenda that were left unaddressed dealt with topics like: the parking situation on campus, day care services, and the possibility of telephone registration. It was on the issue of whether or not money had been allocated for the purchase a new pool table for Rhoades Center that senate proceedings became bogged down. In the minutes of a Student Senate meeting held on May 23, 1991, it states that a motion had been made and seconded to appropriate money for the purchase of a new pool table. No approval of this measure was noted in those minutes.

Decisions, decisions!

AN EDITORIAL BY: M.A. YASHINSKI

It became greatly apparent to me, after attending the last half of last week's Student Senate meeting, that there is a major problem in the process in which the senate passes legislation. Are there any concrete rules by which the Student Senate decision making process is governed?

On Thursday the senate and its respective advisors hit a wall on the issue of whether or not money had been appropriated for the purchase of a new pool table for Rhoades Center. The wall made its appearance in the form of a strong debate on whether the recorded minutes of senate meetings or the word of students who previously served on Student Senate were the official record of decisions made at past senate meetings.

If you are a student who was here last semester, I need only mention one word, "jackets" to make evident in which source of information my confidence lies.

I think that it is imperative that the Student Senate resolve this problem in their decision making process, either by tightening the by-laws proposed in their constitution or by better familiarizing themselves with, "Roberts Rules of Order", the book by which proper senate procedures are supposedly carried out.

I think that the real decision on which senate should concentrate, is not whether money has been allocated for a new pool table, but if a new pool table is the most needed thing on campus. Perhaps, the $5000 could be better spent more wisely, to serve the student body!

GRENCI PICKS

BY JOHN GRENCI

Hi! My name is John Grenci. I will be writing articles periodically. I used to write a column for "The Cube" at the Butler County Community College. Often, these articles are predictions of division winners, World Series winners, etc.

In April, I picked the New York Mets to win it all. In retrospect, I still like the pick. The reason they did so poorly is Bud Harrelson, their manager. Sure, that's part of being a prognosticator. You never know.

But, misassessing a manager is different than misassessing a team. The trick to predicting winners is largely an evaluation of talent. There is more skill in that. I'm not making an excuse. All I am saying is that I was one manager from possibly being correct and not five players away like some other teams. But, we will never know. Anyhow, I am already picking the Mets to win the division next year.

As far as the playoffs go, I'm picking the Pirates in the NL and the Twins in the AL. The Twins will have the home-field advantage. 1987 was the only year in which every game of the World Series was won by the home team (the Twins beat the Cardinals). That is unlikely to happen again, but if the Twins win 3 of 4 at home, the Pirates will have to win all of 3 of their home games. That might be tough to do. I'll pick the Twins in 7.

TOURNAMENT REPORT

Thirteen Venango Campus students traveled to IUP Kittanning Campus to participate in the inter-collegiate competition in tennis and softball.

Graydon Graham took second place in the tennis competition.

The softball team took fourth place. The team consisted of: Mike Reynolds, Brian Waugaman, Chris Shull, Kier Williams, Gary Knox, Scott Switzer, Clint Flinchbaugh, B.J. Angros, Diana Maier, Melina Zacherl, Jeff Long, and Paul Grunenwald.

BOWLING

Every Monday night, at 9:00 p.m., Venango Campus students are invited to go bowling at Seneca Lanes. The cost is: Venango Campus students with valid I.D., three games for $1.00; $2.00, for guests. Shoe rental is $.75.

How To Do - Pre-Registration For January

The Priority List for Spring 1992 Pre-Registration has been posted on the red wall outside Room 212 Frame. Also posted are faculty office hours and locations. To ensure a speedy and successful pre-registration process, the step-by-step procedure is as follows:

STEP 1: Find Your Name on the priority list (located on the red wall outside of room 212 in Frame)

STEP 2: Check Your "Register Date". This is the earliest date you can have your schedule put into the computer.

STEP 3: Check Your "Credits Earned". This includes credits earned PRIOR to October 7, 1991, including accepted transfer credits.

(If you have any questions about your "credits earned", come to the Administration Office-Frame Hall)

STEP 4: Check Your Advisors Name And Office Hours. Make an appointment with your advisor. DO THIS prior to your scheduled "Register Day". DO NOT WAIT.

STEP 5: Bring Your Signed Registration Form (green) to the Administration Office-Frame Hall - on your scheduled "Register Day". No schedules will be put into the computer after November 8, 1991.

Your advisor will sit down with you to help you schedule classes for the January semester. the classes should be written on the green pre-registration form that you obtain from your advisor and SIGNED by your advisor.

Prior to your appointment with your advisor be familiar with your degree requirements. Prepare a draft schedule using the student work sheet on the back page of the newspaper Spring Semester Schedule.

Endangered Species

Fellow feeling is growing for the natural world and all the creatures who share it with us. But, it is not strong enough to protect the magnificent variety of life that inhabits the earth. we are immensely fortunate to be alive now and to have the chance to save the almost incomprehensible diversity of animal and plant species which still exist.

It is in this light that Venango Campus will be offering, BIOLOGY 200 Special Topics, Endangered Species. Studies in this course will involve: *the causes and consequences of losing wildlife; *the rapid increase in extinctions in every class, from mammals to invertebrates to plants; *abuse of the land; *trade in wild animals; *their persecution, whether purposeful or accidental, as, for example, by toxic chemicals or destructive fishing methods; *national and state legislation and international treaties affecting endangered species; *sketches of people who have been instrumental in preventing extinctions.

This course is reading and writing intensive. Fieldtrips to zoos and natural areas are a likely possibility.

Great Idea!!!

—AN EDITORIAL BY M.A. YASHINSKI

Even before I took over as the Editor of the BULLETIN, I noticed traces of the lack of unity among the students of this campus. Since accepting the position of editor last semester, I've been beating my head against a wall of unwillingness to encourage student unity when it comes to campus issues and activities.

At last a spark of hope!

The I.C.C., Inter-Council of Clubs had its inception at the Leadership Retreat/Workshop that Kim Price held last month at Singing Hills. The I.C.C. is made up of representatives of the various student organizations on campus.

It is my impression that the purpose of the I.C.C. is primarily to give the different clubs on campus the opportunity to collaborate on events and promote an overall club awareness. This willingness among students to work together toward common goals is very encouraging.

It is my hope, though, that the unity established here does not end with club collaboration on a bon fire, dinner, or dance; but to help students to have a stronger, more unified voice concerning important campus and university issues.

There is a great need on this campus for the students to band together to help each other solve common problems. Whether the problem is simply publicizing a club activity or stressing to the administration the need for more sufficient parking, this kind of unity can give the student body a strong voice.

Conversations with Ed

By: Dr. James Blake

"How dare she!"

Ed complained with obvious pique.

We were at the Vet's and Ed spoke quietly, barely moving his enormous lips. I followed his gaze to a woman across the office who must have been the "she" that Ed referred to. Ed took offense easily, so I was not overly concerned.

"I'm too long," Ed said, incredulous.

Though I know better than to enable him in one of his moods, I asked Ed what he was complaining about.

"That harridan know-it-all across the way," Ed sputtered, lips flying. "She said my teeth were good, my nose and mouth properly black, but that I am too long to be bred for show."

"Perhaps I should point out that her nose hairs are in need of a good clip, or that I am aware of her breath from across the office."

I laughed and that seemed to assuage Ed. He accepted the laughter as support. He sighed and sat down, thinking.

He turned around slowly and whispered to me, "She's not entirely hopeless though."

He paused and almost smiled.

"She remarked that I have handsome movement in my hind end."

MEET THE DEAN

Every Tuesday Dr. Jim Blake, Executive Dean of Venango Campus, will be in Rhoades Center to answer questions, address concerns, and meet students from noon to 1:00 p.m.

Capital Punishment

—BY: MARY TERWILLIGER

Dr. Jeffery Barker opened his speech on Capital Punishment with two very graphic descriptions on the methods of execution, lethal injection and the electric chair.

He then gave the background of executions starting with the legal one, saying capital punishment was used as a deterrent to crimes. It was often used to maintain political order. Iran has the highest legal execution rate, with China following in second place.

Dr. Barker then went on to the social aspects, presenting racial differences of people on death row. He cited a black defendant during a trial being represented by a lawyer with a Ku Klux Klan background.

The last issue concerned the moral questions of ethics and the justifying of taking a life. The two lines of argument concern deterrence and retribution. Supporters argue that murderers deserve to die and that society has a right to retribution. The problem with that is the inevitability of error.

Dr. Barker covered the laws in the state of Pennsylvania concerning capital punishment. Here the death penalty is being upheld, and approximately 120 people are on three different unofficial death rows.

The Answer To All Your Questions

--BY LUANN DAW

The I.C.C. (Inter-Council of Clubs) is having their kickoff by having a Club Awareness Week, from October 21-24. On each day that week, several clubs will have tables set up at Rhoades Center. Members will be there to answer any questions you have about their club. This is an opportunity for all students to find out what each club is for, what they do, or get additional information about a club you think might interest you. The schedule is as follows: MONDAY - Business Club, Psychology Club, and Legal Assistant Club; TUESDAY - Ski Club, Outdoor Club, and T.O.T.A.L. (Teachers of Tomorrow Actively Learning); WEDNESDAY - A.L.O. (Adult Learners Organization), Creative Artisans, and C.E.C. (Council for Exceptional Children); THURSDAY - Phi Theta Kappa, Nursing Club, and Creative Writers (interest group)

The week will end with the ALO Annual Bon Fire (depending on the fire ban being lifted) or cookout. ALO has invited all the clubs to participate with this event. It will be on Friday, October 25, at 7:00 p.m., at the far side of the pond behind Rhoades Center. This is a family event and EVERYONE is invited to attend. There is no charge for this event, but we do ask that you sign up at Rhoades Center and list the number of people you are bringing.

We hope you will join us to meet people from different clubs and have a nice evening with your family and friends.

BIBLE STUDY

There will be an inter-denominational Bible Study held on every Monday evening at 7:30 p.m., in Rhoades Center meeting room. If studies, work, or life in general has got you down, come and hear the Word of God. All are welcome!

WRITERS NEEDED

Are you good at expressing your innermost feelings on paper? Well, even if you're not, ALO, Adult Learners Organization, is looking for you.

ALO is sponsoring an essay writing contest entitled "What it feels like being a Returning Adult Student". The contest will run from Oct. 7 thru Nov. 7. All entries must be limited to a maximum of 5 pages double spaced. To ensure fairness to all, compositions will be confidentially coded by ALO's advisor, Lou Adelson. Contestants are asked to submit with their essays a cover page with your name only to Mr. Adelson, no later than 6:00p.m. on Thursday Nov 7.

Judging will be conducted by a panel of at least 3 faculty and/or administrators. Winners will be announced during ALO's Annual Thanksgiving Dinner, tentatively scheduled for Friday, Nov. 22. Prizes to be awarded are:

1st prize- $50 textbook gift certificate for the Bookstore.

2nd prize- $30 textbook gift certificate for the Bookstore.

3rd prize- $20 textbook gift certificate for the Bookstore.

So come on all you essayists. Let's hear about how you are coping! Remember, Nov. 7 is the deadline. Check the Bulletin for future announcements.

Hurray for Bill Miller !!!

by: Sally J. Dolan

Bill Miller, "Native American Performer", graced our stage in Rhoades Auditorium on Wednesday, October 16. He accompanied his songs with a guitar and the dulcet tones of a courtship flute.

He invited the children from the audience to sit near him on the stage and to sing the chorus of "Geronimo's Cadillac" with him.

Each of his own original songs were story-oriented. In his earthy voice, Miller sang and talked of bittersweet memories of his childhood and of the pain and prejudice he and his family faced.

Miller, the oldest of 9 children born to a Mohican father and a German mother, told of how he and one of his brothers enjoyed exploring the garbage dumps as children on a Wisconsin reservation. His stories done with lighthearted wit, were very telling. They told of a man, who as a child, dreamed of one day getting off the reservation.

His rendition of "Folsom Prison" brought cheers and thunderous applause from the audience.

Greetings

by: Sally J. Dolan

She greets you with a twinkle in her dark eyes, a smile on her face, and a quick "May I help you?" Who is she?

Nancy Palma, our new associate Librarian here at Venango Campus, received her Bachelors of Science in Education at Youngstown State and her Masters in Library Science at Kent State.

Most recently to coming here, Palma was the Assistant Reader Services Librarian at Lock Haven University of Pennsylvania. While at Lock Haven, she served on their curriculum committee and as advisor to study groups and sororities.

She now lives in Oil City. Palma glows with pride when she speaks of her fourteen year old daughter, Kelly.

She is on the Women's Conference Committee, the public services committee of the library department, and the Vice Chairperson of the Venango Campus Faculty Forum.

It was mid-semester when she arrived at Venango Campus and although beginning the duties of her new position without orientation was tough, she said everyone has been very helpful and nice.

We're Out Of Here

—An Editorial By: M.A. Yashinski

In recent weeks, I have witnessed the resignations of four Student Senators and the same of a senate advisor. Two of them, I feel resigned under a cloud of discord which is greatly similar to the one for which I am now announcing mine.

This editorial can be considered a document of resignation for myself and for Jean Marki, my Administrative Assistant.

Myself and my staff have grown weary and disgusted with the attempts of Dr. Barbara Reagle, Dr. Audéan Duespohl, and members of the Student Senate to control or influence the content and format of the Venango Campus BULLETIN.

Unfortunately, my concept of what a student newspaper is differs from that of the aforementioned parties. First of all, I see it as just that, a student publication. It is not classified as an authoritarian or state run publication, where the administration is to control the content or the format. To supervise publication is the job of the editor.

As far as content is concerned I have tried to present as much of the information that has been given me, with the limited space I have. Granted, I have deviated from the past practice of putting pretty little pictures or eye catchers with every article, because alot of graphics don't fall under my list of the main components of a newspaper. I mean come on! The BULLETIN is aimed at college level students, not second graders. Newspapers are to be read, and I would be willing to bet that every student on campus can read. Story headlines and subjective photographs are the eye catchers of a good newspaper. Unfortunately, I am resigning before the new scanner arrives and gives us the capability to utilize photographs.

Underestimating the abilities of selected student leaders, in my opinion, is one of the major problems on this campus. Advisors should be just that, there to advise if a student who has been given a responsible position has a problem. It is sorrowful, however, that those of this belief are either forced out or under the thumb of controlling superiors.

One of the bright spots of being editor of the BULLETIN this semester has been association I have had with my advisor, Mrs. Susan Hilton. She not only is a good advisor she understands and is a strong supporter of the First Amendment of the Constitution. What more could a student and the editor of a student newspaper ask for. That's not to say she agreed with everything I've written, But she's a good friend and a good advisor.

I would also like to take this opportunity, in closing, to thank the students of this campus for their cooperation this semester.

It is also important that I give special recognition to Jean Marki and DeWayne Harbaugh. They were both very instrumental in making the Venango Campus BULLETIN the informative and quality publication that it has become.

The opinions expressed in editorials or letters to the editor are not necessarily those of Clarion University, Venango Campus, or the student body.

Psychology Club

by: Connie Bauer, President

Contrary to popular belief, you don't have to be a psycho to join Psychology Club. Most of us are almost normal.

Recently, we have collected coats to give to the homeless and have helped to bring in the speakers for the controversial issues. The members looking forward to going to Decision House this week. Here, we hope to get an idea of what type of work situations are available after we graduate.

In the spring, we are making plans for the annual psychology convention. The past two years, we went to Richmond, Virginia and Washington D.C. What a great way to learn!

Remember, you need not be a psychology major to join psychology major to join Psychology Club. We meet every other Wednesday, at 11:00 a.m. in Rhoades. If interested, you can contact our officers, Jessica Riddle, Sandy Stanley or Connie Bauer. Hope to see you at our next meeting on October 23.

Thank you DeWayne Harbaugh and Cultural Arts Committee of CAB for bringing an excellent cultural performance to Venango Campus. "Driving Miss Daisy" was a first class performance.

TEST ANXIETY

Extreme worry over the possibility of poor test performance, interferes with student ability to recall material and organize thoughts. Predictions of poor performance become ironically self-fulfilling and self-perpetuating. If the idea of taking a test leaves you feeling nervous or upset, even physically ill; if you go into tests well prepared but find yourself blanking on answers; if you understand concepts but have trouble communicating that understanding as soon as you enter a testing situations; you are probably struggling with test anxiety. Test anxiety is not unusual. The emphasis on "making the grade" in so much of our culture increases the likelihood that you or someone you know suffers from test anxiety.

Help is available. A combination of relaxation training, and a reorganization of thinking about testing can help overcome test anxiety. Improved study habits and mastery of test-taking skills restore student confidence.

The committee is currently soliciting input so that their plans reflect the desires of the students also. The next meeting will be at 12:30 in Rhoades' downstairs lobby on Monday, November 11. Bring your lunch and provide us with some feedback on the following: hor'deuvres or buffet dinner; Friday evening or Sunday; On campus or Off campus event; criteria for awards; and who's invited. If you cannot attend, you may submit your thoughts to a committee member--Joan Huber, Dick McElhattan, Mary Kavossi, Barb Reagle, or Nancy Palma.

Computer Illiterate ?

by: Sally J. Dolan

Are you having trouble with your personal computer? Do you want to brush up some old computer skills or learn new skills? Lou Adelson is here to help. Lou is a people person and loves to teach. He likes to leave people with a smile on their face. To Lou, there is no such thing as a stupid question. A few recommendations Lou found worth stating are: Treat your education with the respect you would a full-time job. Spending more than an hour a week at the pool table in Rhoades, takes away from valuable study time. Live by the Golden Rule. Lou has been teaching here since August, 1986. He holds a BA in psychology, and AS in Computer Programming and System Analysis, a BS in Computer Science, and an MS in Information Science. Check your spring schedule for his classes!

MENTORING PROGRAM

Venango Campus has implimented an exciting new program to assist new students in successfully adjusting to college. The Mentoring Program, designed by Dr. Barb Reagle, was made possible through funding from a Title II C grant from the Department of Education. Ten students were selected to be Mentors to the new students who matriculated this fall. The Mentors were trained in workshops organized by Kim Price which emphasized communication skills, academic advising techniques, campus resources and referrals, mentoring skills, and program logistics. They will continue to attend in-service seminars throughout the year that will enhance their job capabilities. The role of the Mentors incorporate an outreach approach. New students frequently get lost in the maze of higher education. Adult students especially are frustrated in the realities they face of juggling many roles and feel anxieties about returning to school after a 5 or 10 year hiatus. The questions are many and varied.... Will I remember how to study? What if I fail? What is a syllabus? Will my husband resent this? How will attending college affect my kids? Where will I get the money? These are the questions that the Mentors attempt to listen to, give support, and offer suggestions to. The "out reach approach" is accomplished by the Mentors reaching out to their assigned students by calling them and meeting with them several times throughout the student's first year. This "intensive advising" style has been documented in the education literature as having a very favorable impact on student retention. The hope is that less students will "slip through the cracks, " and more will receive the needed individual attention and referrals from their peers that will help them stay in college. The Venango Campus new student Mentors for 1991-92 are as follows: Carol Morris, George Ekis, Cindy Litwiler, Steve Snyder, DeWayne Harbaugh, Sandy Stanley, Gwen Divido, Kris Gaisford, Jeff Smith, and Terri Brumbaugh. Mentors are on duty in Rhoades Student Union on Monday through Thursday from 10 am to 9 pm. They are also available for night students in Montgomery 209 on Monday from 6-8pm, and on Thursday from 6-9pm. New students may find out who their Mentor is by calling Student Services at Extensions 271, 270, or 272.

CONTROVERSY SERIES CONTINUES

Attorney Cass Neely of Clarion will be the second speaker in this year's Controversy Series. Attorney Neely's talk, "Sexual Harrassment; You be the Judge" will focus on the definition of sexual harrassment, legal issues involved, and the recent Thomas hearings. The lecture will be held on Tuesday, November 12 at 7:00 PM in Rhoades Auditorium, and will be open to the university and the community. Attorney Neely is a partner in the law firm of Alexander, Barbarino, Kifer, & Speer. The Controversy Series is co-sponsored by CAB and the Psychology Club.

COUNSELING SERVICES

The Counseling Services of Venango Campus has now expanded their hours. The additional time will be devoted to more flexible appointment scheduling, workshops, groups, and drop-in hours. See Becky Grove in Room 202 Montgomery Hall.

THANK YOU CORNER

The Cultural Arts Committee would like to thank the following individuals for volunteering their time to help DRIVING MISS DAISY be a success: David Paden, Brian Paden, Kier Williams, Mark Yashinski, Sandy Stanley, Gwen Divido, Paul Grunewald, Angie Ziegler, Karen Zacherl, and Stacy Slater.

ALO would like to give a special thanks to: Chris Whitting, Mary Kay McKinney, Stacy Slater, Jim Dehner, and Jeff Smith. Your help, food, and participation was greatly appreciated at the ALO cookout.

STUDENT ID'S

Beginning Monday, November 11, 1991, all students without Photo ID's can make an appointment or stop in Room 209 Montgomery Hall Monday from 11am to 4:30pm; Tuesday from 1pm - 6:30pm; Wednesday from 11am to 4:30pm and 6:30 to 8:30pm.

ATTENTION:

LAST CHANCE TO VIEW THE HIPPOS! Anyone who might have a collection they would be willing to loan for display, please contact a Library staff member.

BUSINESS CLUB MEMO

by: Susan Harry

Hello! We would like to remind you that the deadline is today to sign up for the tour of the Main Campus on Friday, November 8. The sign-up sheet is on Rhoades' front desk. The tour will start at Carrier Hall at 12:45, and will be led by a student from admissions. We will tour the whole campus, so bring walking shoes! Mrs. Hall has several maps of the main campus for those interested, and we will be working out a car-pool option for students who would like to leave from Venango. Also, we are collecting gloves, mittens, scarves, and hats to donate to an organization such as Community Services for local children and adults who are in need of these items for the upcoming winter. The items must be clean, and in new or good condition. Boxes will be in the lobbies of all buildings to put the items in. We would like to encourage EVERYONE ON CAMPUS, not just Business Club members, to help the needy of Venango County keep a little warmer this year!

ALO THANKSGIVING DINNER

ALO is having its annual Thanksgiving Tureen Dinner on November 22, at 6:00 PM in Rhoades Center. We ask that you sign up at the Rhoades desk and list the dish you plan to bring to share. We hope that this will help to eliminate doubles on many of the foods (although we will need several pumpkin pies) and give us all a wonderful variety for the buffet. The seating is limited to 140 people so sign up as soon as you can and list all of your family members who plan to attend. We hope you can join up for food, fun, and fellowship.

THE CAMPUS BOWL

The Student Services Team faces a tough situation here. It's second and seven on the 30 with about 6 weeks remaining in the first semester. Grove, the Flanker, carries the play in from Coach Reagle to Quarterback Rex. They break the huddle and line up. The 2 All-Conference running backs--Duespohl and Rankin--are lined up in a Pro Set. Wide receiver Price, who doubles as the Force behind the halftime entertainment, goes in motion. The ball is snapped and Rex fakes the handoff to Duespohl and sprints out. He pitches the ball to the Write Inn who was trailing Rex. The blocking is set up. Write Inn weaves and dances to the 40, the 50. What's this? It's a lateral to Duespohl. He's at the 40, the 30. Rankin throws a key block at the 20. Duespohl's in the end zone. It's a winner for Student Services.

CLUB NEWS

The Special Events Committee presents
Comic Book Comedian
Skip Darby and

Keith Gisser. Come see them in Rhoades Auditorium on Tuesday, November 19, 1991. The cost is $1.00 per student and $2.00 per guest.

Psychology Club meeting will be in Rhoades Meeting Room on Wednesday, November 6 at 11:00. Anyone interested in attending is welcome.

Creative Artisans are having a meeting on Monday, November 4 at 12:30 in Rhoades Center. It is almost the Christmas season, so we are going to create Christmas Potpourri Ornaments.

ALO is having a meeting in Rhoades Center, Thursday, November 7 at 12:30. We are going to serve hotdogs for lunch. So, don't miss it.

The Business Club is conducting a tour of Clarion University's Main Campus. It will begin at Carrier Hall at 12:45 PM, on Friday, November 8. Carpools from Venango Campus are being arranged if you cannot meet at Main Campus.

PLEASE DON'T FORGET TO VOTE FOR YOUR PAPER!

NACA NEWS

By: Kim Price

Over the weekend of October 31 through November 3, I had the pleasure of attending the NACA (National Association for Campus Activities) Great Lakes Regional Conference in Charleston, West Virginia with five energetic and enthusiastic Venango Campus students. Jim Dehner, Vicki Paden, Jan Struthers, Kier Williams, and Karen Zacherl were excellent delegates to the five state conference. They represented themselves and Venango Campus of Clarion University in a very professional and upbeat manner. We had the opportunity to meet and watch several entertainers from around the country perform. The Venango Campus delegates were also able to meet and talk with students from many others colleges and universities in the region. These other institutions included public, private, and technical schools in a wide range of size and diversity. Venango Campus was among the smallest schools represented. We were also unique to the conference in that we have a totally commuter campus and the majority of our students are considered non-traditional (over the age of 23). I would also like to commend Kier Williams for his excellent representation in the Student Anything Goes Talent Show. Kier performed a stand up comedy act and he also danced. GREAT JOB KIER!!! None of us won the West Virginia Lottery, but we had a great time playing. (Please hold on to the card!) Yes, there were many forest fires within 10 miles of where we were staying. The smoke was so thick that ash was falling from the sky, and we could not see more than 50 feet in front of us. However, we did not let this stop us from attending the many educational sessions and Showcase performances. If you can get an opportunity to attend the CAB meeting on November 13, we will be more than happy to share our experience with the campus. If you are not able to attend, please talk with one or more of the delegates to the conference and hear and see all the interesting information they brought back from NACA and Charleston! Once again I would like to thank Jim, Vicki, Jan, Kier, and Karen. You were terrific. Thanks.

ATTENTION STUDENT BODY WE NEED YOU!

We are in need of a Clarion Liaison to travel to Clarion every Monday at 7:00 PM and attend the Student Senate meetings. This person would also have to be present at our Student Senate meeting on Thursday from 1-2. Your job is to act as a Liaison between the two Senates and keep both informed of current events taking place in the Senate. If you would like to give it a try, contact Steve Horner, Mike Reynolds, or Doris Groner as soon as possible.

ATTENTION STUDENT BODY--WE NEED YOU

The American Cancer Society is looking for a volunteer to work with their anti-smoking campaign in the area schools. This person will dress as Sammy the Smokeless Dragon and travel with a Cancer Society representative. If you are interested in this position, please contact Steve Horner, Doris Groner, or Mike Reynolds.

5 STEPS TO JOIN US

1. Sign up at the Rhoades Desk.
2. List each guest on a separate line.
3. List the food you are bringing to share.
4. BRING YOUR OWN TABLE SETTING.
5. Be there: November 22, 1991, at 6 PM for the ALO Thanksgiving Dinner. (seating is limited to 140 people so sign up ASAP).

CLUB NEWS

Creative Artisans is having a meeting at Rhoades Center on November 18, 1991. We are making Christmas Potpourri Ornaments.

ALO meetings are held the 1st and 3rd Thursdays of every month at Rhoades Center. Everyone is welcome.

CEC is having a meeting on November 12 at 4:30 in Rhoades Center.

ATTENTION: EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY!

LSC NEWSBREAK

We have one hot item in the news this week, the LSC is providing hot nonalcoholic drinks. Thanks to Student Services tea, coffee, and hot chocolate will be provided for a SMALL donation. Bring your own cups, please.

On a sadder note, Jean Marki is unable to tutor next semester. Class commitments at Clarion have made tutoring impossible after this semester. She will be missed.

Her shoes must be filled, however. If you are interested in this paid, 10 hour per week position, contact Jean Rankin. Next news coming up in about a week. This has been Jean Rankin reporting for the LSC News Team.

EMPOWERMENT:

A Group For Women of all Circumstances to seek Balance in Managing Multiple responsibilities: school, relationships, and self. If you are interested in joining this group, contact Becky Grove at Counseling Services, 202 Montgomery Hall. More members are being accepting. They meet on Thursdays from 2:00 - 3:30.

TIRED OF D's? -- C US AT THE WRITE-INN

Is that term paper due soon? Have you put off finishing it and now the clock is ticking off valuable minutes? There are Apple IIE computers available to use for word processing, several hand books on writing, and volunteers to lend an ear. There's always room at the Inn. Come join us in Room 206 Montgomery Hall.

DANCE COMMITTEE NEWS

The Dance Committee would like to say thanks to all who attended the Halloween Dance and made it a big success. This year we had around 100 people who attended our dance. Thanks for such a good turn out. Prizes were awarded to Jim Speth, Kristy Dunkle, and Stacy Winger. The prizes consisted of gift certificates to be used in the bookstore. A big thanks goes out to MB. Amy K., Gary W., and all the others who helped with the decorations. Thanks Dana and Trevor for putting out the dance floor. Thanks for making this a dance that we all can be proud to have had a part of. Thanks again Dance Chair, Jeff Smith.

A congratulations also goes out to the Ski Club. There slave auction was a big hit. Great idea folks. Keep up the good work. The next dance is the Christmas Dinner Dance to be held at Cross Creek. Watch the Bulletin for more information on this upcoming dance. Anyone interested in working on this dance or any other dance, please feel free to come to the meetings, which are held every Tuesday in the Rhoades meeting room.

MENTORS

Mentors are available to help any student, not just the first semester student. Please use them! If they don't know the answer, they will find it. They are in Rhoades 9am - 9pm and Montgomery on Mondays from 11 - 1 and 6 - 9, Wednesdays from 9 - 12, and on Thursdays from 6 - 9.

ATTENTION DECEMBER
GRADUATES!!!

Graduation is quickly approaching. It's time to think about establishing your Credential File.

Why should you establish a credential file?

□ Some employers assume all graduating students establish credential files with career services offices, so they ask applicants for this information.

□ By maintaining a credential file, you will eliminate the time-consuming process of repeatedly gathering documents for application to employers.

□ By securing references and putting them in your credential file, you save "wear and tear" on your references, i.e. there is no need to repeatedly ask for additional references.

Call today for your appointment.

OPEN FORUM

CAB will hold an open forum on Wednesday, November 20 at 1 PM in Rhoades Meeting Room. We will be discussing the recent NACA Great Lakes Regional Conference that we attended in Charleston, West Virginia. We welcome your input as to the selection of performers for next semester and next year. Audio and Video tapes of artists (performers) are available for your review (in house) at Suhr Library, just ask at the circulation desk. Let us know what types of shows you would like to see at Venango Campus. Or better yet, join one of the CAB committees and get involved from the beginning in the review and selection stages. The committees are: Special Events, Dance, Cultural Arts, Student Union, and Publicity. See Kim Price, Greg Rex, or one of the Chairpersons.

FOOD DRIVE

How many homeless people are in the Oil City and surrounding area? According to Major Satterlee of the Salvation Army, there are many who are momentarily homeless due to fires, eviction or just plain bad life decisions. He stated that two years ago there were 61 people in that situation. The Salvation Army has a Meal Center to help those who are down on their luck. The Center opened on September 4, 1991, and serves about 30 people on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. With the economic conditions getting worse, the Major predicts they will be serving 50 people a day. Psychology Club is collecting non-perishable food to be used in the Meal Center. We challenge all school clubs! The club donating the most cans will receive a $25 gift certificate. We will be accepting the cans at Rhoades Center. Be sure to sign your name and club. Let's all take a little time from our stressful schedules to help a good cause. You will feel good and probably do better on those finals.

PATHFINDER RAFFLE

The Pathfinder Production Committee is selling raffle tickets to raise money for the production of the year-book. We are greatly under-budgeted and need your help. AN "ANGEL" IN THE MIDST

by: Chris Johnson

We would like to welcome Angel Muschweck to Venango Campus. Welcome Angel! You may be wondering "Who is she?" Well, she is a graduate of Slippery Rock University with a Bachelor's Degree in Physical Education/Lifetime Fitness. She is married with three children: Theresa, Mindy, and Robert III. What is she doing here? Her job is an "Employment Counselor." She will be working to increase the job placement of graduating students. This will be achieved by her setting up seminars, workshops, and/or interviews; all involving the job search. She looks forward to helping students here at Venango Campus. Angel wants to make students aware of what the Student Services can do for them. You can find her in Room 209 Montgomery Hall temporarily; she will be moving to another office in the near future. No hours have been set because of the change in rooms, but stop in and see her now and get to know her. Angel looks forward to meeting and knowing all of you who are planning on finding a job after you graduate.

THE CAREER CORNER . . .

Career Services
Room 211, Montgomery

Here are some tips on how to conduct yourself in a job interview:

1. Be on time.
2. Be friendly.
3. Show your enthusiasm.
4. Dress properly.
5. Be positive.
6. Maintain eye contact.
7. Be aware of body language.
8. Express yourself.
9. Be yourself.
10. Be a good listener.

If you need some help with any of these tips, come in and see us at Career Services, we can help! Give some consideration to scheduling a mock interview; practice ALWAYS helps.

MENTORS' SCHEDULES

The following Mentors are here to help everyone. Use Them!

CAROL MORRIS - Mondays 12:30-4, Tuesdays 12:30- 2:00; GEORGE EKIS - Wednesdays 8:30am-10:30am and 2-5; CINDY LITWILER - Mondays 8:30am-11:30am, Wednesdays 8:30am-10:30am; STEVE SNYDER - Mondays 6pm-8pm, Thursdays 6pm-9pm; DEWAYNE HARBAUGH - Tuesdays 2-4, Wednesdays 6-9; SANDY STANLEY - Mondays 10:30am-12:30PM, Thursdays 6-9; GWEN DIVIDO - Mondays 4-6, Thursdays 10am-1pm; KRIS GAISFORD - Tuesdays 9am-11:30am, Thursdays 9am-10am, and 1-3; JEFF SMITH - Mondays 9am-10:30am, Tuesdays 11:30am-12:30, and Wednesdays 11am-1; TERRI BRUMBAUGH - Mondays 6pm-9pm, Tuesdays 4-6; and TRACEY DEWOODY - Mondays 1pm-3pm, Wednesdays 11am-1pm, and Thursdays 1-4.

LSC TRAFFIC REPORT

This is your LSC Channel 1 Skycam with the latest traffic update. Things are starting to bunch up as you approach the Student Services wing of Montgomery Hall. As we've approached the rest of the semester, traffic has increased in this area. It's down to one lane in Room 210, but the over flow route (Room 208) is still clear. Our road crew will still be able to assist you. Detours and emergencies may crop up as flu and cold season hits, so check the map (schedule) outside 210 and 209 for alternate routes. New avenues (hours) will crop up as finals approach, but LSDOT will post the new schedule for semester's end as needed. This has been your roving reporter, Jean Rankin from the skies above.

CULTURAL ARTS NEWS

Did you enjoy Bill Miller, Driving Miss Daisy, or either of the Lecture Series Speakers? If you did or even if you didn't, come join the Cultural Arts Committee and help us get what you want on campus. We will be working on the programming for next semester and next year 92-93. If interested, contact Kim Price at X271 or in Room 213 Montgomery Hall or sign up at the Rhoades Desk. We will be having a reception in a couple of weeks so that you can meet Kim Price and Karen Zacherl and Angie Ziegler, Co-chairs of the committee.

Entrants who qualify must be at least 18 and under 27 by February 1, 1993, never married, and at least a six months resident of PA (college dorm students are eligible). To apply write to: Miss Pennsylvania USA Pageant, Tri-state Headquarters--Dept. S, 347 Locust Ave., Washington, PA 15301-3399. Letters must include a recent snapshot, a brief biography, address, and phone number. Deadline is December 14, 1991.

FAREWELL AND BEST WISHES

As the semester comes to an end, we have to say good bye to Terry Duespohl, Coordinator of Career Services. Terry has been working at Venango since Fall of 1990 as a Graduate Assistant. He will receive his MBA in Business from Clarion University in December. Working as Coordinator, Terry has found his experience to be rewarding and an eye-opener. He enjoyed working with the students and getting to know them. His relationship with the faculty was really good, "They treated me as a Professional Colleague." Terry has achieved many of his goals while being Coordinator, such as: updating resources, communicating the availability of the services, upgrading the credentials for Associate Degree students, and establishing the preparation of resumes. The only goal he didn't reach was becoming more involved in placement. He states, "I feel there is a need for a full-time professional Career Coordinator because of the makeup of the student body, and the economic conditions of the community." Terry believes a Career Counselor is needed because of people working in fields they do not like. He said a typical person will work 80,000 hours on a job in their lifetime, and that it is a shame they will work doing something they do not like.

A quote Terry uses at his workshops is: "Even so, few people actually plan their lives. Instead they seem to be on the receiving end of life. They are at best great 'getters': They GET married, they GET a house, they GET a job, they GET taxed, and they GET buried."

(By: Ronald Krannich)

The one achievement he didn't plan was tutoring Macro-economic and Statistics. As for future plans, Terry will be pursuing a Doctorate in Organizational Behavior/ Human Relations, and wants to secure a teaching position at a college level.

Thank you Terry for all your help in the Career Services Department, and all the odd jobs we needed your help for. We will miss you, but not forget you. Good Luck.

There once was a pretty good student,
Who sat in a pretty good class
And was taught by a pretty good teacher,
Who always let pretty good pass.
He wasn't terrific at reading.
He wasn't a whiz-bang at math.
But for him education was leading Straight down a pretty good path.
He didn't find school exciting
But he wanted to do pretty well,
And he did have some trouble with writing,
And nobody had taught him to spell.
When doing arithmetic problems,
Pretty good was regarded as fine.
Five plus five needn't always add up to be ten,
A pretty good answer was nine.
The pretty good class that he sat in
Was part of a pretty good school.
And the student was not an exception,
On the contrary, he was the rule.
The pretty good student in fact was Part of a pretty good mob.
And the first time he knew what he lacked was
When he looked for a pretty good job.
It was then, when he sought a position,
He discovered that life could be tough.
And he soon had a sneaky suspicion
Pretty good might not be good enough.
There once was a pretty good nation,
Pretty proud of the greatness it had,
Which learned much too late,
If you want to be great,
Pretty good is, in fact, pretty bad

STUDENT SENATE NEWS

by Selena Spangler, President

Anyone interested in a Day Care Center on Campus is asked to attend the December 5, 1991, meeting of Student Senate. The meeting will be held in the Rhoades Auditorium from 1-2 PM. The Senate will be discussing this issue, and Dr. Blake will be present to hear our concerns. We will be forming a subcommittee to act on our proposals.

AGENDA REQUIREMENTS!

Students, if you would like to bring an issue before the Student Senate, please bring your ideas and place them in the Student Senate's mailbox in Rhoades. This will allow me to put you on the Agenda. There are times we don't have time for an open floor, and many issues are left unaddressed. If you need your issue addressed ASAP, this is the way to go. Thank you, Selena.

YOU ARE INVITED

Everyone is invited to attend the Student Senate Meetings in the Rhoades Auditorium every Thursday from 1-2. Come see how your student activity monies are spent.

HELP! HELP!

We need more student help for the spring 1992 semester. If you are interested in a work-study job for 10 hours a week, pick up a pink application on brochure rack in Frame and return to Bonnie in the Frame office immediately. You must have filed a PELL/PHEAA application for 1991-92.

COME AND GET IT!!!

Did you schedule classes for the spring 1992 semester? If so, then please pick up your registration packet in the lobby area of Frame Hall. DO NOT DELAY--PICK UP YOUR REGISTRATION INFO TODAY!!!

ID PICTURES

Anyone who still needs a student ID taken, please come during the following times: Monday 9am-1pm, Tuesday 1pm-5pm, or Wednesday 6:15pm-8:15pm. If you cannot come during these times, please call during the above times and set up an appointment. Ext. 273.

HELP PSYCHOLOGY CLUB HELP THE LESS FORTUNATE.

Once again we are asking for your help. Psychology Club, along with the Salvation Army, is sponsoring a food drive to provide hot meals for the less fortunate in the area. The drive begins on Monday, November 25 and goes through Thursday, December 5. Non-perishable food items will be accepted at Rhoades Center, look for our decorated table. A sign-up sheet will be there, and prizes will be awarded for the club with the most donations, and the individual with the most donations. Prizes will be $25 for the club and $10 for the individual, and will be awarded during finals week.

CLUB NEWS

Creative Artisans will be selling club-made potpourri Christmas ornaments through December 9 in Rhoades. Limited quantities--Get yours NOW. Prices range from $1.50-$3.50.

CEC will be making elderly gift boxes in Rhoades on November 26, 1991, at 4:30.

ALO holds meetings every first and third Thursday every month in Rhoades Center. Everyone is welcome.

ATTENTION PTK members! We have won a prize for the best decorated table at orientation this past summer. You may collect your award at Francis Weber's office in Montgomery Hall.

PARALEGAL CLUB Will be having a meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 4 at 10 am in Rhoades Meeting Room. Plans will be discussed for our trip.

SKI CLUB is going to Smugglers Notch from January 9-12 (Thurs. - Sun.). The cost for travel, lift ticket, and lodging will be about $150. Skis will be about $40 extra. Anyone interested (you can bring friends also) should contact Gwen Divido or John Greci.

ATTENTION ALL CLUBS!!

from Selena Spangler, President of Senate.

The Student Senate has been working on getting a Day Care Center started at Venango Campus. We feel the need is great, and would appreciate your letters of support be sent directly to Dr. Blake's office. ALO has shown their interest with a proposal to the Student Senate. I have submitted it to Dr. Blake also. Please send the Student Senate a copy of your support letters for our files.

THE VERDICT IS IN

By Sally Dolan

On November 12, 1991, Cass Neely, a local attorney, presented insight into the topic of sexual harassment. Of the two types of this festering sore on the face of humanity, the more severe but less prevalent form is: "You give me something; I'll give you something." The more common and harder to prove type is the "hostile environment." The villain holds power; intimidation, and control (just as in rape) over the victim.

An example of this form came out in the Anita Hill vs Clarence Thomas controversy. Sexual harassment affects society in general. Cass cited a DERRICK article of October 31, 1991, in which the government presented the results of a two-year study of federal workers. The government declared a loss of $204 million in decreased production due to sexual harassment. In another study of Clarion University Staff, 21% of males surveyed had been harassed, and, of those, 56% had been harassed by other males. How does one prove sexual harassment? You must first ask yourself some questions. What was the conduct? Did you communicate the unwelcomeness of the behavior? "Unwelcomeness" is the key word. What was the effect of the behavior? Cass offered this advice for proving sexual harassment. Document times, dates, and places. Record who said what. Have a witness, if possible. If the unwelcome behavior persists, have your attorney send the person a letter. Tell someone.

ATHLETES ARE HEROES

By: John Grecni

"We judge athletes more harshly than we judge ourselves. Athletes are heroes. That is their job." (taken from Bill James' 1986 Baseball Abstract.) You may agree or disagree with these statements. For the most part, I agree. Webster defines hero as "a man of great courage, nobility, etc., or one admired for his exploits." What about today's athletes? Do we have any heroes? Lets focus on baseball players. What about Bobby Bonilla? Granted, he and several other players could be considered heroes because of their exploits. What about the rest of the definition? The latest offer made by the Pirates is 18.5 million for 4 years with an option for a fifth year. He still hasn't accepted. You might say that he is just being smart, holding out for all he can get. Recently, he was quoted as saying "You play 6 months of baseball for 2 weeks of hell" (referring to the playoffs). Can you believe it? Perhaps the key word in Webster's definition is "noble". I don't consider any athlete who is so concerned with money (in essence, concerned with himself) noble. To me, Bobby Bonilla is not a hero. Barry Bonds? Well, lets just say he is not nearly as likable as Bonilla. Jose Canseco? A couple of years ago, he became the first 40-40-120 guy in baseball history. You figure it out. There are 2 things that I want to point out. First, I am not making judgments on these people. All I am saying is that I would be much more interested in baseball if I felt it had more heroes. Second, I do not mean to imply that there are no heroes in baseball. There are. We just don't seem to have as many as we used to. Kirby Puckett, who works with several charity organizations and Glenn Davis, who donates money for every homerun he hits to build a home for under-privileged kids, are 2 names that come to mind. It seems that the stars of yesteryear were more likely to have those "noble" attributes. For instance, Stan Musial and Ernie Banks. On a show called Home Run Derby, I have seen both of them interviewed (as players) and they seemed almost embarrassed by their talent. Of course, I could never forget Roberto Clement, who died while trying to help the under-privileged. But there is one player in history that stands out. Lou Gehrig. To begin with, he played an amazing 2130 consecutive games, which shows a dedication to the game that may be unmatched. He also had one of the greatest careers ever. Nobility? People who knew him say he was one of the most sincere, compassionate people ever. Courage? When he was dying of, what else, Lou Gehrig's disease, he spoke at the Yankee Stadium and considered himself "the luckiest man on the face of the earth." If you've ever seen that clip, you know he meant it. As far as today's players go, we don't have many to really look up to, do we? And it's sad. Because "athletes are heroes. That is their job."

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE...

by: Sally J. Dolan

The year was 1961. Her name was Bernadine. She was a pretty young nurse. She and her husband were expecting their first child. She smoked. She developed throat and lung cancer. She and the baby died. Bernadine was my sister. That was 30 years ago, before the real dangers of smoking were well known. The November 21, 1991, edition of the News Herald quoted Stan Tannenbaum, Illinois' Chairman of the American Cancer Society: "Smoking remains the number one death in this country. That's more than Aids, crack, heroin, cocaine, alcohol, murder, and car accidents combined." There are nationwide "Stop Smoking" programs afoot, and in our own Frame lobby on national Smoke Out Day, gum and mints were offered to replace the urge for a cigarette. In their November 11, 1991, memo to Dr. Blake, the faculty forum smoking committee recommended that Frame and Montgomery Hall be made smoke free (citing extreme health problems), that the University continues to provide educational programs about smoking, and that Rhoades Center be divided into smoking and non-smoking sections for a 30-day trial period in the spring session. Student Senate suggested a 2-month trial period for the Rhoades project. In his May 1991, READER'S DIGEST article, David Ruebens, MD., introduced us to Margaret Gray. In their 40-year marriage, her husband smoked, but Margaret never did. Margaret now has lung cancer. Dr. Ruebens quoted Margaret: "Smoking is so unappealing, so unattractive. Please quit smoking now. Not only are you killing yourself--the smoke from your cigarette is killing the very people you love."

AND THE WINNER IS.....

CONGRATULATIONS goes out to Sandra Yeany of Venus. She won the 1991 Pathfinder Christmas Shopping Spree raffle. The lucky ticket was sold by Chris Johnson and was drawn by Becky Grove. Happy Shopping Sandra.

WORDPERFECT WORKSHOP OFFERED OVER BREAK

A WordPerfect Workshop will be offered in five 2-hour sessions on January 6 through 10. The workshops will run from 1:30 to 3:30 each afternoon. WordPerfect is the word processing program on the computers here. Competence in it will simplify the writing of themes, reports, and abstracts. The workshop is limited to the first 16 enrolled. Students may sign up in the Administrative Office in Frame Hall.

ANOTHER FAREWELL AND BEST WISHES

We have yet another familiar face leaving our presence at the end of this semester. Please take the opportunity this week to stop into the Bookstore and wish our own Nancy Sauers "Best Wishes" on her retirement. We are all going to miss you Nancy. "Good Luck" and "Enjoy Yourself."

CONVERSATIONS WITH ED. . .

Edward was doing a few laps around the house. He pretended not to look at me, but I caught him looking from the corner of his eye. It may have been my imagination, but I thought that he picked up his pace a bit when he discovered that I was watching. After the third lap he slowed to a walk and strolled through his cool-down. I was having an iced-tea on the deck enjoying the unseasonably warm weather and reading some of Phil Terman's poetry. Ed walked up the steps and sat down, panting, tongue curled, sticking out straight. I waited for him to catch his breath.

"That Terman's excellent, isn't he," Ed said without looking back at me. He was staring across the yard at the woods. I now knew for sure that he had been watching me earlier or how would he have know I was reading? "He was last in Iowa," Ed said. "Where I was born, you know. Some excellent poems on the midwest, Phil's done."

"Come on Ed," I said, "you're not claiming to be able to appreciate poetry, are you?" In answer, Ed quoted Terman: "Everything in this land of big sky is favored, where its one hundred and eighty degree horizon is a way of life...." I was too shocked to reply. "Too bad you always doubt so much," Ed said. "It gets in the way of a real appreciation of me." What could I say? "You're a prince, Ed," was the best I could do. And I gave it all the sarcasm I had in me. "Yes," he replied not at all shaken. "In fact, do you notice how my tongue sticks straight out when I pant?" "Yes," I answered, not sure where he was headed. "Well ask any breeder and he'll tell you. It means that I even sweat in proper form."

THE REST OF THE SPORTSWORLD

By: John Grecni

Last week, I wrote an article about heroes and focused on today's baseball players. I now want to focus on the rest of the sportsworld. Actually, there are two happenings that have occurred within the last month that has prompted the discussion of hero. One is the highly publicized ordeal of Magic Johnson and his battle with Aids. The other is Detroit Lion offensive lineman Mike Utley, who was paralyzed a few weeks ago. It seems that while some acknowledge Johnson as a hero for his courageous attitude toward Aids, the majority of people (not just religious leaders) do not look at him as a hero. Mike Utley, on the other hand, was a victim of circumstance. He, too, is taking a courageous attitude toward his plight. I have always admired football players for a couple of reasons. First, they play in the most grueling sport around. Second, it seems that a greater percentage of them are involved in various organizations such as United Way. (I may be completely wrong, and it may be that their involvement is more publicized). However, that is the feeling I get. To sum it up, athletes should be heroes. I define hero(ine) as a person who thinks more of others than himself/herself. There are certainly heroes in every sport. To me, however, it seems that football players are more likely to fall into that category.

REMINDER TO ALL CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

By: Kim Price 213 Mont.

I would like to have each Club Treasure's Blue Three Ring Binders returned for accounting purposes by Friday, December 13. The binders are to be returned with all used and unused UPR forms. Please let me know if there are any problems with this as soon as possible. The books will be checked and returned by January 13, 1992 (the beginning of the Spring semester) to your mailboxes. Thank you for your cooperation. If I am not available, please leave the binder in Room 209, Montgomery.

ATTENTION CLUBS

Be sure to check your mailboxes for the revised Bulletin slips. Please start using these new slips next semester, and discard the old ones. Additional information and the new deadline have been added. The new slips should eliminate necessary information that has been left out.

CHANGES STARTING NEXT SEMESTER.

From: Tracey DeWoody

The Bulletin will be changing its computer program. We will now be able to expand on different printing styles. Your patience and understanding will be appreciated while the change is being made.

LEARNING SKILLS CENTER

If you need to improve your study skills, stop by Rooms 208 & 210 in Montgomery Hall and see Jean Rankin. The following help is available:

- *Personal advice from a tutor
- *Videotapes
- *Printed Handouts
- *Computer Programs

If you have trouble in a class (or classes), stop by 208 & 210 in Montgomery Hall. They have the following help available:

- *Free tutoring
- *Video tapes for some subjects
- *Computer programs
- *Resource Materials

Drop-ins are welcome; even if it's one question. Study groups are welcome to use the rooms. Also, you may use the rooms for studying or homework areas. Look for a list of tutors and their hours in a future issue of the Bulletin.

NO MATERIALS ARE TO BE TAKEN OUT OF THESE ROOMS!!!

ATTENTION CLUBS!!!

Any club without a mailbox at Rhoades Center, please stop by the Bulletin Office and pick up your revised Bulletin slips.

COUNSELING CENTER

Free, confidential counseling services are available to students at the Venango Campus Counseling Center located in Room 202 at Montgomery Hall. Throughout the academic year, students encounter difficult problems. In many instances, talking to a professional counselor is helpful. Some people still believe the myth that you have to be "crazy" to go to a counselor. The Venango Campus Counseling Center is available to students who are dealing with a wide variety of "growing pains" and stressful life situations. The Venango Campus Counseling Center is part of the Clarion University of Pennsylvania Department of Counseling Services, which is accredited by the International Association of Counseling Services. Concerns about which students may seek counseling include: stress management, overcoming procrastination, overcoming anxiety (including test, math, grade, performance, and social anxieties), coping with depression, resolution of interpersonal conflict, working out child-rearing issues, and recovering from drug and alcohol problems, codependency, divorce, domestic violence, childhood abuse, or sexual assault or harassment.

Individual, couple, family, and group counseling are available. Workshops on a variety of issues of concern to students are offered periodically. The Venango Campus Counseling Center is staffed by Rebecca Kendall Grove, MSW. You can find her in her office Mondays 10:30-12, 1-3:30; Tuesdays 10-12; Wednesdays 2-4; and Thursdays 6-9. Additional hours are available by appointment. Stop by or call Extension 277.

WRITE-INN

The Write-Inn is available for students who need help with writing assignments: listening to your ideas, giving suggestions, organizing your ideas, and proofreading your final draft. Also, the Write-Inn has Apple IIE computers available for typing up your papers. The Write-Inn is directed by Dr. Joan Huber. Look for consultants and their hours in a future issue of the Bulletin.

LIBRARY HOURS

Mondays through Thursdays
8am-9:30pm.

Fridays 8am-4:30pm.

Saturdays 9am-4pm. On January 20, the library will be open from 8am-4pm.

TAKE TIME FOR YOURSELF

A support group for women who are handling the stress of multiple responsibilities is organizing for the Spring term. The group will meet in the Counseling office in 202 Montgomery. Becky Grove, Venango Campus Counselor, will act as resource person. The group itself will have considerable autonomy in setting its content, priorities, and scheduling. A first meeting will be scheduled for the last week of January and will be advertised in next week's Bulletin. If you are interested and want to participate in deciding when the group will meet, contact Becky Grove, Extension 277 this week. New members will be accepted up to February 7, 1992. No matter how busy you are, it is important to take time for yourself, to pull together and to reorganize. If you ever feel that you run from one thing to another, overworked and underappreciated, this is a group for you. Take the time, you deserve it!

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS!!!!

All students, especially those who attend evening classes, please let your families and babysitters know the times, buildings, room numbers, and Professors' names of all your classes. This will insure contacting a person needed in an emergency situation.

ATTENTION!!!!

The Bulletin is looking for interested persons to join our staff. Come join us and bring in the news! The Bulletin is also looking for a Business Major student interested in coordinating the solicitation of ads from local businesses. You can submit your name and telephone number to the Bulletin mailbox in Frame Office or drop it off at the Bulletin Office.

REMINDER!!!

The Bulletin mailbox in Rhoades Center is no longer available for submitting information. The only mailbox available is located in Frame Office. Or, you can drop it off at the Bulletin Office.

DEADLINE AND OFFICE HOURS

The Deadline for submitting information to the Bulletin is WEDNESDAYS AT 9:30 AM. NO EXCEPTIONS!!! Office hours are Mondays 1-1:45, Tuesdays 3:15-4:45, Wednesdays 10:30-1:45; and Thursdays 12-1:45 and 4-4:50.

STAFFORD LOANS

Stafford Loans and Parent Loans for Undergraduate Students (PLUS) loan checks are mailed directly to Clarion University. These loan proceeds may be credited to a registered student's account up to, but no more than 21 days before the start of a semester. An overpayment created by the application of these loan proceeds to a student's account may be refunded to the student no earlier than 10 days before the start of the semester. First time freshman borrowers must wait 30 days after the start of the semester before endorsing their Stafford loan checks.

If your Stafford loan has been submitted to and approved by PHEAA, and not deducted on your bill, you may deduct the expected loan proceeds from your bill, and remit the balance.

If your loan is in process but has not yet been approved by PHEAA, you will need to have the Financial Aid office verify the status of your loan in order to defer the payment of your Fall semester fees. This should be done prior to the start of the semester, at Financial Aid Office, Egbert Hall.

The PHEAA toll-free number is 1-800-692-7392.

When Stafford Loan checks are received at the Accounts Receivable office, the student will be notified to come to B-29 Carrier Hall to endorse the check. On registration day, January 13, 1992, all loan checks will be available for endorsement in Carrier Hall basement hallway. If the loan check creates an overpayment and the student is entitled to a refund, it will be processed in the University's next weekly check writing operation.

Venango Campus students contact the Administrative Office at Venango Campus, 814/676-6591.

WHEN SELECTING OR ALTERING YOUR CLASS SCHEDULE, YOU MAY FIND THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION USEFUL IN DETERMINING YOUR ELIGIBILITY FOR FINANCIAL AID. IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS, PLEASE CONTACT THE OFFICE OF FINANCIAL AID.

NOTICE

WELCOME!

A.L.O. would like to welcome all returning and new students to Venango Campus. Who, you ask is A.L.O.? We are the Adult Learners Organization whose purpose is: TO PROVIDE SUPPORT FOR RETURNING ADULT STUDENTS. WE GIVE SUPPORT THROUGH CLUB MEMBERSHIP AND DIRECT STUDENTS TO VARIOUS EXISTING CAMPUS RESOURCES. IF RESOURCES DO NOT EXIST, WE STRIVE TO SEEK OTHER ALTERNATIVES. WE ALSO PROVIDE ACTIVITIES UNIQUE TO ADULT STUDENTS NEEDS.

Please don't let the word Adult keep you from joining us. We welcome all students and look forward to meeting you at our first meeting on January 15th, 12:30 PM in Rhoades Center. If one of your classes prevent you from being there at 12:30, just join us when you can. Last semester A.L.O. sponsored various activities: a family cookout, Thanksgiving tureen dinner (140 people enjoyed this event), an essay writing contest describing "What it Feels Like to Being a Returning Student," a trip to Kutztown University for the Adult Learner Consortium, and a Christmas luncheon at the Colonial Restaurant for the A.L.O. members. Our plans for the Spring semester: an Easter egg hunt for any student's children, an overnight camping trip for members and their families, a family cookout (hopefully there will not be a fire ban and we will have a bonfire too), and an end of the semester luncheon.

We hope you will join us because your input for planning additional events will be greatly appreciated. We will meet every Wednesday at 12:30 in Rhoades Center during the month of January and the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month thereafter.

If you have any questions, please contact our advisor, Lou Adelson; President, Luann Daw 432-7807; 1st Vice President, Carol Morris 677-5080; or 2nd Vice President, Karen Beightol 432-3622.

We are looking forward to meeting you!

CLUB NEWS

Creative Artisans first meeting will be in Rhoades at noon on January 27. We invite all students to join us.

ALO club meeting will be in Rhoades on Wednesdays at 12:30. All students are welcome.

Creative Writer's Club meets every 3rd Wednesday at 4:00 in Rhoades Center Meeting Room. See you there!

The Creative Artisans Club would like to welcome you to Venango Campus. We are a group of students (all ages) who meet every other week to relax, socialize, and work on a craft project. We find this is a wonderful way to reduce the stress students' experience from academic pressures.

For the upcoming semester we are planning the following: ceramic workshop, fly tying, and T-shirt and/or sweatshirt painting. We would like to have your ideas to plan additional projects for this year. Please come and join us for our first meeting on Monday, January 27 in Rhoades Center at noon. Our meetings and project announcements will be listed under the Club News section of the "Bulletin" and on Campus bulletin boards.

If you have any further questions, please feel free to contact our President, Luann Daw at 432-7807 or our faculty advisor, Dr. Martha Ritter at extension 212, room 215 Frame. We are looking forward to meeting you on the 27th.

ATTENTION!!

The Bulletin is looking for people interested in joining our staff. Come join us and bring in the news. Also, anyone interested in coordinating advertising to local businesses, contact Tracey DeWoody at Room 205 Mont.

THE CAREER CORNER

With a new semester comes new office hours. The Career Center is offering evening hours, as well as daytime hours this semester. Simply phone in for an appointment. (EXT. 272). The Career Center still offers the same services as last semester:

- *DISCOVER - Career Exploration
- *Career Planning
- *Vocational Information
- *Resume/Cover Letter Preparation
- *Credential Services

Career Corner-Quote of the Week:

To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and to endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty, to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to Have Succeeded.

SUMMER INTERNSHIPS

Many students are looking for summer work or paid internship programs. These are options to help finance your education.

Career Placement Services have recently received a list of summer internships available. Many are opportunities within Pennsylvania, but others are scattered throughout the U.S., including an opportunity to work with the Disney All-American College Program. There are numerous opportunities for Business Administration Majors.

Check the job board outside of Montgomery 209 for information. Most deadlines are in February and March.

Don't procrastinate!

You may need a resume or be required to have an interview. For help with either, contact Angel in Room 209 Montgomery, Ext. 273 for an appointment.

Workshops for resume writing and interview skills will be conducted throughout the semester. Look for announcements in the Bulletin and on campus bulletin boards.

LSC HOOPLA

This is Jean Rankin reporting on the tip off of the second half of the 91-92 season. The tutor team has had a lineup change. DeWayne "The Train" Harbaugh has been substituted for Jean Marki. DeWayne's enthusiasm makes up for his lack of experience at the center position. The rest of the lineup remains unchanged. The Vetran Backcourt duo of Patient Pat Zook and Earnest Eva Struthers is ready to dish out the assists. Val "Psych" Gonzales and "Fast" Fred Lapek labor on at the forward positions. Catch the action this semester. The schedule is as follows:

Jean	Mon 9-1 Tue. and Thur. 1-3:30 Wed. and Fri. 9-2:30
Fred	Mon. and Wed. 11-4
Val	Tue. and Thur. 10-1 Wed. 12-4
Pat	Mon. 1:15-6:30 Tue. and Thur. 3:30-5 Wed. 4:45-6:30
DeWayne	Mon. 5-8:30 Tues. 10-1:30 Thurs. 12:30-3:30
Eva	Tues. and Thurs. 6-8 Wed. 7-9 Thurs. 6-8 Fri. 5:30-7:30 Sat. 10-noon

The CAB is looking for students interested in Co-Chairing the Special Events Committee and the Student Union Committee. Applications are available in Rhoades Center from one of the Mentors. They are also looking for any students interested in working on one or more of the committees or even to assist with an event. CAB meets as a full committee every Wednesday at 1 PM in Rhoades Center.

Upcoming CAB sponsored events:

Noon Day Series: January 28 Magic Show and February 4 Microwave/Tupperware Demo.

Valentines Dance: February 13 from 9PM-1AM.

Get your orders in for Valentine Balloons for your sweetheart or friend.

BULLETIN JOB LISTING

I am looking for a student interested in making a few extra dollars this semester. Hours are flexible and the pay is good. Duties: light housekeeping and yard work. Anyone interested, please send your name, phone number(s), and three references to: C/O Bulletin Job Listing.

CAREER CORNER

Today's job market is Competitive with a capital C. When they hire, employers look not only for good grades, but also for experience. State Work-Study Program (SWSP) is a good way to get career-related experience and earn money to help pay for school costs at the same time. The program has a job bank of employers looking for talented students who want to work in their fields of study. Last year, 8,000 SWSP jobs were available; 2,200 students worked and earned nearly 4.0 million dollars. For eligibility requirements, applications, and more information about SWSP, contact PHEAA State Work-Study Program staff at (717) 257-2550 or speak with the Financial Aid Administrator at CUP.

ATTENTION!

Any student interested in a staff position for a new literary journal on the Venango campus, please contact Dr. Philip Terman by leaving a note in his mailbox indicating when and where you can be reached. The first editorial meeting will be in Dr. Terman's office on Thursday, February 20 at 12:30 PM.

AEROBICS

Is the cold weather getting you down? Did you gain a few pounds over Christmas? Get your blood pumping and get in shape! Join the aerobics session in Rhoades Gym on Mondays and Wednesdays from 12:30-1:30. Admission is free for CUP students and staff. All you need is a change of clothes, tennis shoes, and lots of enthusiasm.

JOB BOARD

The Job Board in Frame now has a listing of numerous summer internship and employment opportunities available. Local job listings will also be posted on this board weekly. Continue to check the 3X5 cards for jobs. If you are investigating summer or permanent employment, you should take advantage of the Career/Placement Services available.

*It takes just a few seconds to pick up a packet to open a credential file--206 or 211 Montgomery.

*Call Ext. 273 to set up an appointment to construct your resume.

TAKE TIME FOR YOURSELF

A group for women who take care of everything, and everyone, except (sometimes) themselves. Stake out your time to relax and regroup with people who understand. Explore handling the stress of multiple responsibilities, relationship tending, setting priorities, saying "No". Meeting on Tuesdays beginning February 18 at 207 Montgomery Hall from 12-1:30.

LAST CHANCE!! No new members after the February 18 meeting. Contact Becky Grove at 202 Montgomery Hall, Ext 277, or show up at the meeting on February 18.

CAREER CORNER

Mark your calendars for Tuesday, March 31, 1992. The Career Center, in association with the Student Union Activities Board, will be hosting a Career Fair for all interested students. It will be held during the Tuesday Noon Day Series. Representatives from businesses and social service agencies will be present to provide job information in their fields. If you have any suggestions for presenters, please call the Career Center at Ext. 272.

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENED AT THE 2/13/92 STUDENT SENATE MEETING:

*Dr. Blake spoke on the smoking policy. He stated the policy would take affect as soon as materials, no smoking signs and ashtrays, were here.

*There was a letter sent to Dr. Blake asking him to help us in speeding up the process of getting the convenience vending machines.

*There is a search on for the keys for the ladies lockers in the gym so that if anyone who needed a locker could have one. More on this to come.

*We are looking into getting a pay phone in Montgomery Hall.

*There was a letter written to Dr. Blake about the need of steps from the upper parking lot to Montgomery.

*Under new business, we started a discursion no trying to get new desks in the classrooms. More to come.

*Next week we hope to discuss the process of getting more computers.

WE WOULD LIKE TO THANK THE STUDENTS WHO HAVE COME TO THE MEETINGS IN THE LAST FEW WEEKS. THEIR INPUT WAS GREATLY APPRECIATED. IF ANYONE HAS ANY SUGGESTIONS, PLEASE ATTEND OUR MEETINGS.

CAREER CORNER

The most difficult question to answer in an interview may just be, "How much should we pay you?" The question really isn't fair because, if you set the floor, it may be two stories below the floor the employer had in mind, and you may find that you've undersold yourself. If the employer insists that you "name your price," you can buy time by requesting a day to think it over. Use the time to check out the going rate for that position and then ask for more. Worst case scenario:
You will be offered the going rate. But you will never be condemned for placing your own value higher. The boss may hold most of the cards, but negotiating salary is never considered to be presumptuous, even at the entry-level. You will be admired for refusing to work for peanuts.

CLUB NEWS

ALO (Adult Learner Organization) holds their club meetings in Rhoades Center at 12:30 on the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month. All students are invited to join us.

CEC is having a meeting on February 27 at 5 in Rhoades.

Creative Artisans will be having a club meeting at noon in Rhoades Center on Monday, March 9. We will be working on counted cross stitch sweatshirts, and planning a painting workshop.

SPREADING EASTER HOPE

BY: SUSAN HARRY

Greetings and a wish for a happy and productive semester from the Business Club! As you know, April 19 is Easter; a holiday celebrating springtime, hope, and a fresh start. Not everyone is able to share in this hope, however. There are many people and families in our area who are disadvantaged and do not have the resources to provide their children and themselves with the traditional trimmings associated with the holiday. That is where we, not only the Business Club, but the whole campus community, fit in. We have the opportunity to bring in a ray of hope to a child this Easter. Here's How:

Very soon, Business Club will be sponsoring a collection of nonperishable food items, candy, and other things associated with Easter such as jellybeans, small stuffed animals and toys (Please No colored eggs.) to assemble into little baskets. Also, plastic grass and baskets to be used in making them would be helpful. The baskets will be distributed through a local service organization. Keep watching the bulletin boards for posters and the lobbies of the building for boxes to collect items. Any and all help will be greatly appreciated! Please help make Easter a little brighter for local families.

SPORTS

THERE IS HELP AVAILABLE!!!

Has today's hectic pace got you down? Are your family, academic, and career roles clashing with one another like the defensive and offensive football players at the superbowl? Are your homework assignments bombarding you like a hail storm? Is money rapidly disappearing from your hands like a person who forgot to invest in real estate in a Monopoly game? Do you feel lost, confused, and not sure which way to go? Well, please do not try going in two separate directions at the same time like the Scarecrow in the Wizard of Oz. Instead, come in our direction, seek out the sympathetic ear and support of your Mentors. What is a Mentor? Basically, a Mentor is your passport to academic survival. More specifically, a Mentor is a guide, a peer counselor, and most importantly, a friend you can rely on. Who and Where are the Venango Campus Mentors? The following is a copy of the Mentoring schedules and phone numbers for the Montgomery Hall Mentors:

CINDI LITWILER: Mondays 8:30am-10:30am and Saturdays 9am-noon.

STEPHEN SNYDER: Thursdays 7pm-9pm and Sundays 11am-2pm.

*If you would like to make an appointment with Stephen, he can be reached at the Suhr Library during the following times: Mondays 11am-2pm; and 6pm-9pm; Wednesdays 4-6; and Fridays 9am-11am.

A Mentor Hot Line is available, if you are in need of immediate help of a Mentor; the extension is 230. If you are a new student who enrolled in Venango Campus either this semester or last semester, you have been assigned a Mentor. If you do not know who your Mentor is, you can find out who your Mentor is by contacting either Kim Price in 213 Montgomery, ext. 271, or Dr. Barb Reagle in 212 Montgomery, ext. 270. You can also get in touch with either Dr. Reagle or Kim by dropping a note in their mailboxes at the Frame Office. You do not need to be assigned a Mentor nor are you limited to the help of only one Mentor. You may see any or even all of the Mentors that are available if you wish. The service is free and confidential. No appointments are necessary, but you may make appointments if you wish. The Mentoring Program is available to ALL STUDENTS, regardless of how long the student has been on campus. So, if you need help, or if you even just want to stop in for a friendly chat, please feel free to look us up. REMEMBER: YOUR MENTORS ARE VALUABLE TOOLS TO YOUR ACADEMIC SURVIVAL AND SUCCESS, BUT ONLY IF YOU USE THEM.

RESUME BOOKLETS

If you will be graduating in May and are interested in having your resume distributed locally, you may be interested in participating in the Resume Booklet Project. Angela Muschweck, in Student Services, will be helping graduates to construct a resume and will then make four resume booklets. There will be a booklet for each Associate Degree Program. Booklets will be circulated to numerous employers in Northwest Pennsylvania. If you need help constructing a resume and/or would like to be a participant in the Resume Booklet Project, please contact Ext. 278 or 273 to set up an appointment or leave a copy of your resume at Room 209 or 206 Montgomery.

CAMPUS.

ATTENTION!!!

Attention all Venango Campus students, there will be an election on Feb. 24 and 25 from 10-9 in Rhoades Center concerning recommended changes in Article IV Sections 3 and 4 of the Student Senate Constitution.

Article IV Section 4 currently states:

Election in the fall for existing vacancies shall be conducted by an Elections Committee set up in the previous Spring by the Student Senate. This committee shall distribute and receive petitions, consisting of 25 signatures, classify candidates according to class, and conduct an election in which all SAVC members may vote for a specified number of candidates from each class.

Article IV Section 4 recommended change states:

Elections in the Spring for returning students shall be conducted by Senate Election Committee for 5 Senators, three of which will be officer positions: President, Vice President, and Treasurer. These 5 Senators will be elected only by the students returning in the next Fall. The entering class will elect in the Fall four students from their class to fill the four remaining Senate vacancies, one of which will be the Senate Secretary.

Article IV Section 3 currently states:

The term of office for the members of the student Senate shall be two calendar years.

Article IV Section 3 recommended change status:

The term of office for the members of Student Senators shall be one calendar year term.

Changes are being recommended for the following reasons:

*So officers of senate can be elected by the student body, rather than elected only by the 9 senators, as in the past.

*The 5 returning students elected as Senators in the spring will than have the opportunity to attend summer workshops and will be able to conduct business in the summer and in the early fall, where as in previous years few or no Senators continued from year to year and, so were unable to be available or unable to conduct business over the summer or early in their term. The student body may chose not to re-elect a Senator who has not performed adequately for a second term. However, a senator who has performed well may be re-elected and provide needed transition from year to year.

*A shorter term of office may be more attractive due to less time commitment.

There was no one in attendance, besides the officers, at the meeting. We need to know what we can do to better serve you, so please attend.

DOWN STARES RHOADES

This is a list of the important things that happened at the Student Senate meeting on 2/20/92.

*The Student Senate voted to amend the amendment that will be voted on by the student body on the 24 and 25 of this month, to read currently enrolled students less graduating students in stead of returning students.

*The Senate has accepted a bid of $50 on old pool table so it can be removed so there can be more room for seats.

*The senate is filling out an evaluation form for a MAC machine. Keep your fingers crossed.

*The Post Office has informed us that the market area here is too small for a stamp machine, but have offered us 100 stamps to start selling them. Then we would give the Post Office the money received from the stamps for 100 more. We will be looking into setting this up

*The senate voted to give Becki Grove $40, so that anyone who was interested in attending the upcoming Ninth Annual Women's Conference at the main campus, this includes any men who would be interested.

*The Senate is working on a letter requesting that the process be speeded up on getting more computers for this campus.

New Faces On Campus

by Amy Cooper- Escobar

Venango Campus welcomes a friendly new face, LINDA BROWN, in the campus bookstore. On January 6th, replacing Nancy Sowers who retired in November.

Linda is from Kennerdale and has been working with people in the retail business for over twenty years. When asked, "What do you hope to bring to Venango Campus?" Linda cheerfully replied, "I hope that if the students feel there's anything they need, they will come into the bookstore and I'll help them! That's what I'm here for - to help students with their academic needs!"

Linda would like to remind students that if they have asked her to order a particular item, please check back with her during the bookstore hours:

Monday - Thursday 11 - 6

Best to you, Linda, and welcome aboard!!

Another friendly new face on Venango Campus this semester is JEFF LONG, our newly appointed Coordinator of Student Activities. Jeff is replacing Greg Rex and expects to be here through December of 1993.

Jeff is a graduate student in the MBA program and holds a B.A. in economics from Allegheny College. He works for Student Services twenty hours per week in Rhoades Center, where he is responsible for coordinating all student activities that take place there. When Jeff was asked, "What do you hope to bring to Venango Campus?" his response was, "A new ping-pong table! I'd like to increase student activities on campus and student participation on campus."

Jeff suggests that students take time to check out all of the activities that are being offered on campus and encourages students to make comments and suggestions about campus life. Good Luck, JEFF, and Welcome!!

Day Care

by Selena Spangler

As some of you are aware, last semester we formed a sub-committee for Day Care. Friday, February 21st, we held our first meeting with two members attending. We feel that a day care center is desperately needed on this campus and we are asking you, the students, for your help. Please sign up for the day care committee and help us make OUR day care center a reality. There will be a sign-up sheet at the Rhoades desk.

$145 Million in Financial Aid Went Unclaimed Last Year !!

National Scholarship Services

Many students are unaware that the awards exist. Did you know that there is a scholarship for a person who does not smoke, drink, use drugs, or engage in strenuous exercise? Or that you qualify for a scholarship if you are wealthy and left-handed? The list goes on and on.

Institutions are interested in awarding money to deserving students and our company is licensed to FIND STUDENTS TO TAKE THE AWARDS!

For information on these and other awards, contact the BULLETIN at extension 281 THIS WEEK ONLY.

IT'S YOUR PAPER

by Gwen Divido, Editor

If you walk in to Rhoades on any given day, you will hear many different voices sounding similar news. We at the BULLETIN would like to hear these voices resound in unity.

You can sit over in the student center and complain about conditions and policies imposed by the administration over a fat burger and a soda and simply wish they will go away. You can complain to your neighbor. You can complain to a faculty member, or you can take that neighbor, make him/her your ally and voice your complaints or praises here in YOUR newspaper.

When I accepted the job as editor of the BULLETIN, I really had no idea of the multitude of responsibilities that came with the title, none-the-less, I intend to make this publication the best it can be, but I need your help. Let me know what you want this, YOUR PAPER, to be. I am open to any and all suggestions. Thank you.

ATTENTION: Frank Shepard wishes to announce WEST LOW COMPUTER RESEARCH TRAINING in his office on March 13th. This is only for students who have completed Legal Research. There will be a sign-up sheet on his door.

In Case You Were Wondering, and Even if You Weren't.

by John Grecni

Well, I incorrectly picked the Bills to win the Super Bowl. In retrospect, it is easy to see why they got blown out, let alone beaten. Last year, in the AFC championship game, I picked the Raiders to beat the Bills because I thought the Bills lacked character. Well, you may remember the Bills annihilated the Raiders, 51 - 3. I was wrong about the game, but it looks like I was right about the lack of character. There was plenty of evidence.

Jim Kelly, while putting some blame on himself, always manages to rip some of his teammates (not specifically). Thurman Thomas blasted the media for not getting any respect. In the meantime, he was voted the NFL's MVP. Cornelius Bennett complained about the defenses lack of respect. Bruce Smith complained about some hate mail he got. These are perhaps the Bills' four best players. This is not what championship teams are made of. Marv Levy, the Bill's coach, summed it up best after the game. He said, "I don't think they realize a comment they make is interpreted in greater depth than the depth of the thought they gave before making the comment. They're better off just talking football."

Beyond the character argument, Terry Bradshaw (who is much smarter than anyone ever gave him credit for) said, "The Bills were too tight to play well." This says a lot toward the theory of Super Bowl blowouts, particularly when teams play in the Super Bowl after having lost a previous Super Bowl. They probably put too much pressure on themselves for redemption. The two weeks of hype doesn't help.

It is often said that defenses win Super Bowls. I think this is true. Referring to what I said earlier, this is probably because defensive players can often thrive on emotion (even if it is not in control), but offensive players can't because that is where the skill positions are. So, defense means a lot; particularly in the tension-filled Super Bowl.

Speaking of speaking out, before the Super Bowl, Bills defensive line coach, Chuck Dickerson, made some comments about the Redskins offensive line. He said that Joe Jacoby slobbered, Jim Lachey had bad breath, and Jeff Bostic ate grease. I think it was intended to be humorous, however, you would think that people would learn their lesson. It seems that every time a person makes statements like these, it comes back to haunt him. It's a shame too, because sports could use humor like that.

A few weeks ago, there was a debate in the USA Today on what was the better event: the World Series or the Super Bowl. The answer, to me, is simple. The Super Bowl -- because baseball players are babies, and (the Buffalo Bills aside) football players are not.

Students Offered Health Care

Did you know that as a Venango Campus student you may be entitled to emergency room health coverage at Oil City and Franklin Hospitals? If you are a student carrying six or more credits, you may be entitled to E.R. visit coverage which is paid for by your auxiliary fee. This coverage is for the basic Emergency Room visit only. It does not include such costs as X-rays, lab work, etc., but it could come in handy for students with limited or no health care coverage. However, this service is limited to students only. It does not cover a student's family members. For additional information on this, or any other student service, please contact Kim Price or Dr. Barb Reagle in Montgomery Hall.

Special Topics- BAT BIOLOGY Offered Next Fall

Notice: The offering in biology special topics next fall will be BAT BIOLOGY (Biol 200-51). The 2-credit course will introduce non-majors to the fascinating life of bats. Instructor will be Bill Belzer. No prerequisite. The scheduled Monday afternoon lectures will survey bat anatomy, reproduction, feeding, environmental needs, and beneficial roles of bats. The out-of-class arranged time will be for independent reading/writing and several evening field trips to locate bats and observe their behavior. This study will hopefully help to replace the common fear and persecution with appreciation for and conservation of these remarkable and valuable creatures.

How it Feels to be a Returning Adult Student

by Audrey Kozalla

As the winter of '91 plodded along, various thoughts persisted as I kept my daily routine. Every day the thoughts came back. I had left something very important unfinished. It was the education that I wanted. Then I said to myself, "I am not any better off this year than last, and next year will probably be a lot like this one." I could see nothing standing in my way.

Knowing what can happen to a dream deferred, I decided to "just do it!" Oh yes, it took a little time to get up my nerve, to take the first steps toward enrollment, but the encouragement and confidence of my family helped a lot. As we progressed into spring, I was officially accepted at Clarion University, a returning student for the 1991-1992 school year, attending Venango Campus.

My first day on Venango Campus approached with a lot of anticipation and feelings of adventure; things that any student probably experiences, but I had been hearing an unfamiliar descriptive term lately: non-traditional student, or "non-trad." It didn't take long for me to figure out that that that meant ME. Nor did it take long to realize that I was not alone. Education seems to be for everyone these days; a continuing lifelong process.

Being a non-traditional student is not without difficulties, but then I didn't expect it to be easy. Here on campus there is no reason to feel alone, what with help available for almost any need. There are activities and friendliness around every corner and never a good excuse for boredom. Coming back to school as a returning student or "non-trad," is for everyone who likes to be around patient and understanding people. If you like to be around those who sincerely want you to succeed and prove it by giving you difficult problems to solve, and a new challenge every day, this is the place to be. I have found all of these people here at Venango Campus.

This time, I will get my Associates Degree and who knows, with only two more years, I could have a Bachelors degree. There is no need to let this dream dry up and fade away. No need to live with the nagging feeling of an unfinished piece of business. I am sure that whatever I may do, wherever I may go from now on, I'll probably do it better because of higher education.

Rock Layer Cake

Science
Elementary

Layers of earth are formed by settling of rock. Here are two ways of showing how the earth settles.

Materials: gravel mixture (dirt, sand, and pebbles), paper cups, plaster of paris, water, glass jar with a lid.

1. Put a small amount of the gravel mixture in the jar and fill the jar half full of water. Put the lid on the jar and shake. Observe what happens. Which particles settle first? Does the settling form layers? If it does, which layer has the larger particles?
2. Fill one of the paper cups half full of water. Drop a small handful of gravel mixture into the container. After the mixture has settled, carefully pour the water out of the container, leaving the gravel mixture in the cup. Mix the plaster of paris, making it thin and watery. Pour the plaster into the paper cup with the gravel mixture. Set aside to dry. Examine the container the next day to determine if the plaster is dry, if it is, tear away the paper cup. When you first poured the gravel mixture into the water, which particles did you think would settle first? Why? On what do you base your prediction?

"WHAT IT'S LIKE BEING A RETURNING ADULT STUDENT"

by Amy Cooper-Escobar

When I was a child, I used to play dress up at my Grandma's house in the big playroom upstairs. My sister and I would put on grown-up clothes and pretend we were big girls. I remember that we would not only look older, but somehow also act older. We looked confident, and noone told us what to do. It seemed to me then, as a child, that the transition into adulthood was an easy, natural consequence of simply reaching a certain age and that the transition would be as simple as changing clothes. "What's the big deal," I would say to myself, "about growing up?"

Physically, there was no big deal. The emotional transition into adulthood, however, was something no game, no book, nor any person could have prepared me for.

In the ten years that have passed since I graduated, I have moved 19 times, lived on two separate continents, and had 15 different jobs. I have dined with a four-star general and experienced the fear of terrorism in a foreign country.

I now find myself again in a very difficult emotional transition. I am an adult student. I now have daily interactions with students who remind me of myself ten years ago. I remember that innocence. As I observe them, the young adults, I remember also that time had no relevance for me in those days and I didn't fear death or even consider my own mortality. It was a time when cautiousness was not a part of my vocabulary. (continued on page 4)

FACTS ABOUT ALCOHOL AND COLLEGE STUDENTS

Drinking is the number one health problem on college campuses. College students spend approximately $5.5 billion annually to purchase alcoholic beverages. This alcohol consumption can lead to dropouts, campus violence, risky sexual encounters, and even death. The following are examples of tragedies of COLLEGE DRINKING:

*A 22 year-old Franklin and Marshall tennis player was found unconscious in his dorm room. He died in the emergency room of respiratory arrest with a Blood Alcohol Level of .40. He passed out after drinking in a dorm.

*A University of New Haven student was charged with vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated after his car struck a tree, killing one person.

*Charges of rape against a college student were dropped when the victim testified that she was too drunk to know she was being sexually assaulted and the defendant testified that he was so drunk that he did not realize at first that she was not consenting.

THINK BEFORE YOU DRINK!!!

The life you save could be your own.

SMOKING POLICY

by Audrey Kozalla

Changes have been implemented recently in order to accomodate both smokers and non-smokers on Venango Campus:

Shur, Montgomery, and Frame are non-smoking buildings. However, CUP policy states that, "An individual or two-person office may be a designated smoking area by the person(s) regularly assigned to the office....."

Rhoades is divided into smoking and non-smoking sections. There are plans to provide each entrance of every building with an ashtray.

For those who may be interested in quitting smoking see Jim Kole at 204 Montgomery. You may also use the sign-up sheet outside outside his door... "Smoking Cessation Initiative."

Special Topics- BAT BIOLOGY Offered Next Fall

Notice: The offering in biology special topics next fall will be BAT BIOLOGY (Biol 200-51). The 2-credit course will introduce non-majors to the fascinating life of bats. Instructor will be Bill Belzer. No prerequisite. The scheduled Monday afternoon lectures will survey bat anatomy, reproduction, feeding, environmental needs, and beneficial roles of bats. The out-of-class arranged time will be for independent reading/writing and several evening field trips to locate bats and observe their behavior. This study will hopefully help to replace the common fear and persecution with appreciation for and conservation of these remarkable and valuable creatures.

Resume Services Available

Many students have been taking advantage of the resume consultation services available in Student Services in Montgomery Hall. This is great!! Many of you have also taken packets to open your credential file but few of these have been returned. If you are one of these students who have taken a credential materials, please distribute the recommendation sheets to your references and return the other sheets to Student Services, room 211 or 206, so that we may open your file.

Remember, this service is FREE to any Venango Campus Student. It is helpful when conducting your job search because all of your references are on file in one place. You only need to make one phone call to us and your references for the job interview are taken care of.

If you are interested in this service, contact Angel Muschweck in Montgomery Hall, room 206 or call extension #278 or #273 to leave your name and number. Your call will be returned ASAP.

Paralegal Employment Seminar

Paralegal Majors and other interested students are invited to attend the first annual Paralegal Employment Seminar, Tuesday, March 10, from 7 - 8:30PM in Rhoades Auditorium.

Four area professors will be on hand to give up-to-date information and advise on finding a job in today's tough job market. Learn about employment opportunities for paralegals that are not so obvious. Find out how to prospect for a job. Understand the specifics of networking.

This promises to be an exciting and informative evening. Don't miss it!!!

Strategic Planning Action Team

Many students may not know it, but there is a group of faculty that meet in order to improve the conditions here at Venango Campus. They are currently discussing a new management plan and would like student input. If you have any ideas, bring them to their next meeting -- March 27, 2PM, 208 Frame, or contact Dr. Barb Reagle.

Psychology Professor

Sadly, we will be saying goodbye to Dr. Haynes next semester. She is transferring to Clarion Campus. This week the department is interviewing two excellent candidates for the position. There are informal seminars set up for Venango Campus students, staff, administration, and faculty to meet the candidates. The candidates need to learn about the people and the atmosphere here. In addition, Dr. Haynes will want your feedback about the candidates. Please come to Frame Conference Room to meet:

Dr. Margaret Hamilton from Pitzer College, California
Monday, March 16, 4:30-5:30

Dr. Carie Forden from Queens College, New York
Wednesday, March 18, 3:30-4:30

DOWN STAIRS RHOADES

Due to lack of a quorum last week, the Student Senate meeting of March 2 was only an informal gathering of those who chose to attend. The following is a list of things discussed: Dr. Reagle presented the recommended guidelines for the BULLETIN which were drawn up by the guideline committee. They will be voted on next week.

It was announced that President Reinhardt will be on campus March 26. She is also planning to attend the Spring Dinner/Dance on April 13.

The clubs will be receiving their budget request forms this week.

There will be a letter written to Dr. Blake recommending that computers should be put in Montgomery for the nursing students.

We would like to encourage everyone to attend the concert on Tuesday, March 17. Firesign will be in Rhoades Auditorium at 8:15. This concert is free to all CUP students with a valid ID.

Even though I'm temporarily taken back in time by interacting with younger students, the fact remains that I am an adult student. I sit in the classrooms examining concepts and theories and smile to myself when I think of having to work so hard for a good grade in speech class and yet overlooked are those fundamental speeches to my daughter like "don't talk to strangers." I suppose those courses are "credit-no record." I smile to myself when I think of working through management class and going home to manage a single-parent, only-child household. Again, I suppose, "credit- no record."

I smile to myself because I know that while I work hard to achieve my goal of a college education, an achievement merited by recognition, I alone, am the only one who knows the everlasting, essential contribution that my decade of living life has given me. I carry with me as an adult student, an arsenal of triumphs and failures, strengths and weaknesses, beginnings and endings that constitute experience. They embody the courageous individual that strives for a better life for me and my child. Until my attitude is shared by those educating me and breaks through the attitude of educational hierarchy, I fear that I, as an adult student, will continue to be treated by some as a baby bird in it's nest, wide-mouthed, helpless and waiting to be fed. I am not that baby bird. I am a mama bird. I can fly. Help me to navigate my course.

My experience as an adult without a college education is what got me here to college. It is also what will get me through until the proud moment when I walk down the isle and receive my diploma. I will then be able to look my child in the eyes and assure her that those painful, frightening, helpless experiences that we endured due to ignorance, lack of confidence, and poverty will be never again.

CAB NEWS

MARCH 31

Student Union and the Career Resource Center are sponsoring a Career Fair as part of the Noon Day Series on Tuesday, March 31 in Rhoades Center.

The 1992 PATHFINDER is now on sale at Rhoades Center. Graduating students will receive their books without charge. All other students can order a book at $2.00 a copy. Money is due when you place your order. The books will be delivered in time for graduation.

SPREADING EASTER HOPE

by Susan Harry

Greetings and a wish for a happy and productive semester from the Business Club! As you know, April 19 is Easter; a holiday celebrating springtime, hope, and a fresh new start. Not everyone is able to share in this hope, however. There are many families in our area who are disadvantaged and do not have the resources to provide their children and themselves with the traditional trimmings associated with the holiday. That is where we, not only the Business Club, but the whole campus, fit in. We have the opportunity to bring in a ray of hope to a child this Easter. Here's how:

Very soon, Business Club will be sponsoring a collection of nonperishable food items, candy, and other things associated with Easter such as jellybeans, small stuffed animals and toys (please, no colored eggs) to assemble into little baskets. Also, plastic grass and baskets to be used in making them would be helpful. The baskets will be distributed through local service organizations. Keep watching the bulletin boards for posters and the lobbies of the buildings for boxes to collect items. Any and all help will be greatly appreciated. Please help make Easter a little brighter for local families!!!

"Wake up, Fred, it's almost April."

EARTH DAY

How do you value the earth?? TOTAL is looking for students and faculty that would like to share Earth concerns with the community. FIRESIGN

Firesign is an acoustic rock duo whose roots date back to the spring of 1986 when Doug Smith met Ed Istnick. At that time, Doug was playing in a rock band while Ed was entertaining audiences in a local health food restaurant. Since that time the duo has given hundreds of performances at nightclubs and colleges throughout the Ohio and Pennsylvania area.

Both Doug and Ed bring diverse musical backgrounds to FIRESIGN. While Doug was influenced by the hard rock of the 70's, Ed was raised on 60's music. Doug's classical piano and guitar training enables him to play amazingly intricate leads which are a perfect compliment to Ed's everlasting rhythms. Doug's hard-edged bluesy voice allows him to easily recreate songs from the Who, Led Zeppelin, Grand Funk, and Eric Clapton among others, while Ed's more mellow country style of vocals evokes memories of America, James Taylor, Eagles, and Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young.

With state-of-the-art equipment FIRESIGN is completely self contained allowing for easy set-up and tear-down.

Their show consists of a wide range of musical styles, from country and classic rock, to ballads, to blues, and more. There is something for everyone at FIRESIGN performances.

FIRESIGN will be performing here at Venango Campus on Tuesday, March 17, 1992 at 8:15pm in Rhoades Auditorium. General Admission is $4.00 - FREE to CUP students with a valid ID. Tickets and information may be obtained by calling 676-6591.

The person who is all wrapped up in himself is overdressed

by John Greci

Recently, Muhammad Ali celebrated his fiftieth birthday. Last Month, there was a two hour television special honoring him. The following is a tribute to Muhammad Ali.

In Rome of Nineteen Sixty
He was a Gold Medal Winner
Light Heavyweight Division
In those days, he was thinner

He threw the medal in the ocean
Claiming luck, he'd have a lot
In some ways he was right
In some ways he was not

Sonny Liston, it was said could knock you out with his stare
But Ali won the title
From the "big old ugly bear"

His religious beliefs
Would not allow him to go to war
He felt it was a belief
Worth going to jail for

He got out in nineteen Seventy Knocked out Quarry in round four
But Fraizer was the champion
Ali had to settle the score

Yes, he'd have to go through Fraizer
Not an easy feat
He lost on a decision
And was knocked on his seat

Just for Fun

This event tests competitor's ability to communicate with a colleague.

One student is shown a contraption built from blocks, science equipment, tinker toys, Legos, Lincoln Logs, or other inexpensive materials. The student then has 25 minutes to write a description of the object and how to make it. His/her partner (in another room) takes the description and attempts to recreate the original object in twenty minutes.

He fought Foreman in Zaire
In Nineteen Seventy-Four
He won an eight round knock-out
And got the title back once more

In Nineteen Seventy-five
He won the "Thrilla in Manila"
He beat up Joe Frazier
The man he called "gorilla"

When he beat Leon Spinks
In Nineteen Seventy-eight
He won the title for the third time
And was the first to achieve that fate

His charisma was unmatched
He was always having fun
His talent, never-ending
His heart, second to none

Though Louis and Rocky were great Though Holyfield is the latest
Let's all hail Ali
He really was "THE GREATEST"

Special Topics- BAT BIOLOGY Offered Next Fall

Notice: The offering in biology special topics next fall will be BAT BIOLOGY (Biol 200-51). The 2- credit course will introduce non-majors to the fascinating life of bats. Instructor will be Bill Belzer. No prerequisite. The scheduled Monday afternoon lectures will survey bat anatomy, reproduction, feeding, environmental needs, and beneficial roles of bats. The out-of-class arranged time will be for independent reading/writing and several evening field trips to locate bats and observe their behavior. This study will hopefully help to replace the common fear and persecution with appreciation for and conservation of these remarkable and valuable creatures.

PATHFINDER

The 1992 PATHFINDER is now on sale at Rhoades Center. Graduating students will receive their books without charge. All other students can order a book at $2.00 a copy. Money is due when you place your order. The books will be delivered in time for graduation.

PARALEGAL

On Tuesday, March 10, 1992, the first ever Paralegal Seminar was held in the auditorium of Rhoades.

The program, which lasted two hours, was attended by approximately twelve members of the student body and three faculty. Angel Muschweck was in charge of the evening's agenda, and did a commendable job of addressing the issues.

Available for a question and answer period was a panel of four experts comprised of :

COMPLAINTS/ SUGGESTIONS?

If you have a complaint or suggestion about apolicy or procedure that we have at Venango Campus or simply have some suggestions--WE NEED TO HEAR FROM YOU!! This is the only way we can make this a better campus! I'd like to hear from you.

SEMINAR

- 1) Judge White, Venango County,
- 2) Cassandra M. Neely, attorney and CUP instructor,
- 3) Wayne Hundertmark, attorney,
- 4) Howard Morrison, Paralegal

A wealth of information and ideas was exchanged covering several areas.

Possibly the most important issue addressed during the program was the importance of writing ability. The panel members unanimously confirmed the significance of the ability to express oneself in written form.

JOB SEARCH GROUPS NOW FORMING

Are you lost when it comes to searching for that much needed job? Sign up to be part of a job search group. The group activities will give you ideas for where to start your search. There will be goals to set and meet each week. Finding a good job is like having a good job.....it takes skill, time, and effort!

If you are interested in being part of a weekly group, please leave your name and phone number in Montgomery Hall, Room 206 or 209. To leave a phone message, call 676-6591 extension 273.

Don't worry if your time is limited, some plan can be worked out.

RESUME BOOKLET DEADLINE

If you are graduating this semester and would like to have your resume sent out to numerous employers in Western PA as part of the Resume Package from Venango Campus, submit a copy of your resume to Angel Muschweck, Montgomery Hall, Room 206 or 209 by March 31st. If you need help in constructing a resume, you can contact Angel at campus extension 278 or 273.

SPREADING EASTER HOPE

by Susan Harry

Greetings and a wish for a happy and productive semester from the Business Club! As you know, April 19 is Easter; a holiday celebrating springtime, and a fresh start. Not everyone is able to share in this hope, however. There are many people and families in our area who are disadvantaged and do not have the resources to provide their children and themselves with the traditional trimmings associated with the holiday. That is where we, not only the Business Club, but the whole campus community, fit in. We have the opportunity to bring a ray of hope to a child this Easter. Here's how:

The Business Club is sponsoring the collection of non-perishable food items, candy, small stuffed animals, and toys to assemble into little baskets. Also, plastic grass and baskets to be used in making them would be helpful. The baskets will be distributed through a local service organization. Watch the bulletin boards for posters and the lobbies of the buildings for collection boxes. Any and all help will be greatly appreciated! Please help make Easter a little brighter for local families.

APSCUF

SCHOLARSHIPS

For students having having a 3.00 or better average and having some leadership experience, there will be two $500 scholarships available. Lou Adelson will have the applications, or one can be picked up at APSCUF office, Hart Chapel. Clarion Campus. Deadline is April 15.

Letter to the Editor:

This space could probably be utilized to inform the student body on what actions were taken by the Student Senate at their last meeting on Thursday. Unfortunately, lately action contradiction in terms. The meeting that was scheduled for last Thursday was cancelled, I am told, because a few of the senators would not be present due to bad wather. The previous week no actions could be taken due to the lack of a quorum. The week before that, same $/!@, just a different day. The last senate meeting that there was any action taken was on February 20.

Why is this? When we elected these Student Senators I thought it was understood that one of their responsibilities was to attend the weekly meetings on a regular basis. In the past senators have lost their positions due to poor attendance at meetings, but what are we going to do remove the quorum of senators form senate?

I admit that some absences are justified, but failure to have a productive meeting three weeks in a row due to lack of a quorum is ridiculous. I also know that students themselves do not take enough interest in what the senate is doing. It appears that the senate feels that nobody is concerned with or watching what they are doing. Beecep!! Guess again.

Attention All Sports Fans

As you know, we only have one person who writes BULLETIN articles about sports. He does write great articles, don't get me wrong, but with all of the excellent, exciting sports around this great country of ours, some of them are bound to get lost in the wayside.

To combat this, I am writing on behalf of one of my favorite sports, and I am sure it is a favorite of some of you also.

Picture it...the end of the third period approaches, and the score is tied. All of the sudden, it's Mario Lemieux on breakaway...he comes around from the back of the net...shoots...and SCORES! The defending Stanley Cup Champions have won another game.

Hockey...the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat, all in an action-packed hour of fun. As the players scramble on skates to get a small black puck in a net, it is hard to watch, sometimes, without sitting on the edge of your seat.

Hockey has been around for years, but the event that has been credited with it's recent surge in popularity in the U.S. was the 1980 Olympic "Miracle on Ice" in Lake Placid, where the U.S. beat the former Soviet Union.

Now the NHL is getting more recognition, and the "Boys of Winter" are gaining increased respect as the athletes they are.

As a sideline, when was the last time you heard about hockey players asking for sky-high salaries?

So how about it hockey fans! Let's hear it for the guys on ice!

One, two, three o'clock, four o'clock-Class.

Five, six, seven o'clock, eight o'clock-Read.

Nine, ten, eleven o'clock, twelve o'clock- Write.

We've got to hit our books with all our might.

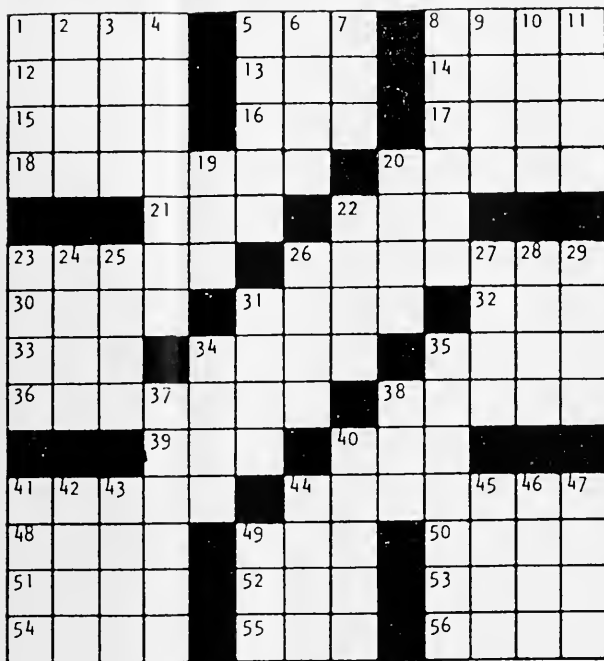

When it's eight, nine, ten, eleven, two we'll be taking notes to study to.

We're gonna work our butts off tonight.
Gonna work, gonna work by the desk-top light.

Gotta work, gotta work to pass these courses alright.

YOU DO NOT HAVE TO BE YOUR MOTHER UNLESS SHE IS WHO YOU WANT TO BE. YOU DO NOT HAVE TO BE YOUR MOTHER'S MOTHER, OR EVEN YOUR GRANDMOTHER'S MOTHER ON YOUR FATHER'S SIDE. YOU MAY INHERIT THEIR CHINS OR THEIR HIPS OR THEIR EYES, BUT YOU ARE NOT DESTINED TO BECOME THE WOMEN WHO CAME BEFORE YOU, YOU ARE NOT DESTINED TO LIVE THEIR LIVES. SO IF YOU INHERIT SOMETHING, INHERIT THEIR STRENGTH. IF YOU INHERIT SOMETHING, INHERIT THEIR RESILIENCE. BECAUSE THE ONLY PERSON YOU ARE DESTINED TO BECOME IS THE PERSON YOU DECIDE TO BE.

ISSUES OF THE 90's DISCUSSED AT SEMINAR by Angel Napolitano

Did you know that condoms are only 74% effective against pregnancy? The Associated Press states that 2 or 3 out of 5 of your friends consider suicide, while one has probably tried it. In fact, 15 college students out of every 100,000 committed suicide last year in America. And more people die from alcohol related accidents than from anything else.

On March 16 at 8pm in Hart Chapel, Koinonia Christian Fellowship, an interdenominational campus organization, addressed certain issues of the 90's. Suicide, drugs, and alcohol were among the topics discussed.

The evening began with a skit in which campus minister, Jay Flagg, mentioned each issue one at a time, creating an awareness of some of the major topics of the 90's. He related each issue to a statistic. Throughout the skit, Flagg stressed the point that the choices we make have consequences.

The second highlight of the evening was a dramatic presentation performed by several students and volunteers. Starring roles were held by students, Sharon Ralston and Andy Rogers. The presentation told the story of Jesus (played by Rogers), creating a life (portrayed by Ralston), and then presenting that life with many temptations. Some of these temptations were in the form of drugs and alcohol, abortion, and suicide. The performance ended with Jesus being nailed to a cross and rising again.

The evening ended with a performance by the group, "Second Story," who won second place in the "Battle of the Bands."

PRIVILEGE OR PAIN

Letter to the Editor:

I'm writing in response to the universities recent decision to invest in a new telephone registration system. This new service is supposed to save us time by "reducing the inconvenience of driving to campus or standing in line." If I'm right, most college students drive to school almost daily and are pretty much used to standing in line for everything else. I personally would rather stand in line than pay $1.30 for the privilege of registering for classes. Does going to a branch campus mean we must pay extra for simple services, which are available, at no charge, to main campus students? What's next? How about charging us for the use of the library computers, or how about a surcharge each time we use the recreation center? It doesn't seem like there has been much thought put into what VENANGO CAMPUS students want! Isn't it time someone started asking questions about who should pay for the cost of registering?

First Day at Venango Campus

by Sue Marshall

I vividly remember my first day of kindergarden: the bright yellow schoolbus, my perfect pony-tail, my crisp, pink dress (a hand-me-down from my cousin), and tons and tons of anxiety. Indeed, it was a "Father knows Best" experience where happy endings abounded.

I vividly remember my first day at Venango Campus: my beat-up Renault, my sagging pony-tail (after working eight hours!), my pink sweatshirt (a hand-me-down from my daughter) and tons and tons of anxiety. (It's the 90's; we call it "stress" now). Many of the professors were younger than I. Indeed, it was a Stephen King experience.

Arriving at my first class, I anxiously scanned the room for a fellow "old person". Standing out as being different was only one of my numerous fears. I thanked God when I saw that 50% of those who streamed into the classroom that night were my age or older. There is comfort in numbers.

Another fear I had was that older students wouldn't be able to compete with their younger, brighter counterparts. Yet, quickly it became apparent how well we blended and even complemented each other. Soon, age was not even the slightest factor. Both groups worked compatibly in school and even developed friendships outside of the classroom. My horizons were widened to include such concerns as whether the censorships of 2-Live-Crew's album, "As Nasty as They Want to Be" violated the first amendment. Being exposed to so many points of view has taught me never to look at anything in a close-minded way.

Why don't more people my age return to complete their educations?

Some may have fears similar to those I've just described. Or perhaps those with families may worry that their children will suffer in their absence. I've adapted ways to deal with that possibility. First, I limit myself to 6 credits per semester. In addition, I've found it possible to turn my absence into a positive situation. My child has learned to depend less on me and do more for herself. I study when my child studies, which is productive as well as a bonding experience. Suddenly, we have something in common: homework!

My advice to any returning student, particularly a parent would be:

1) Rearrange your priorities. While it's never OK to let your family slip from the number 1 position, allow homework and gourmet meals slide if need be. Nobody's ever died from eating take-out pizza or not being able to see his reflection on a freshly waxed floor.

2) Don't compete with anyone grade-wise, especially your child. If your A beats his B in English (or vice-versa) the fact that you're both doing your best is what counts.

3) You're just as good as anyone else on campus. Don't allow your age, inexperience or anything else convince you otherwise.

ALO-- Once again ALO is sponsoring a camping trip to Singing Hills (Evening Song Lodge) on Friday, April 3rd at 6:00pm. There will be two options in which to choose from and sign-up will be held in Frame until Thursday, April 2nd.

Option #1- Join your family and friends as ALO celebrates spring with a cookout and surprise entertainment. Return to your home that evening.

Option #2- Same as option #1 but stay overnight and partake in an invigorating nature walk Saturday morning with Venango Campus student, Carolyn Worley.

Both options require a $2.00 deposit for each person, which will be refunded upon arrival at the camp.

Singing Hills is a local Girl Scout camp; therefore NO alcoholic is permitted. Please bring any games, adult or children, which you think the group will enjoy.

DOWN STAIRS RHOADES

Following are some of the important things that were discussed at the Student Senate meeting on March 26, 1992.

*It was announced that CAB has the dinner theater tickets on sale now. Due to limited seating (130 persons) they will be sold on a first come-first serve basis.

*Elections for Student Senate returning student will be April 13-15.

*Elections for CAB will be April 21-23.

*Nursing Club will be handling the graduation reception.

*Student Senate will be taking bids for the Snack Bar.

*There was a discussion on raising the auxiliry fee by 2%.

*The BULLETIN guidelines were tabled until there is more information.

PSSSST!! PASS IT ON!!

The BULLETIN is looking for interested students to serve as writers, reporters, word processors, and layout people. Become a member of the BULLETIN staff and become a member of the most rewarding and most influential student organizations on Venango Campus.

OH WELL!

If nothing else, it will look great on a resume.

Stop in and see us at room 205,
Montgomery Hall
or leave a message in Frame office.

LSC LAMENT

(to the tune of Mac the Knife)

Oh the test is in an hour
My mind is totally blank.
I can feel my panic rising
Got to get myself relaxed.
Got to read through the test once carefully.

Then answer the ones I know
Save the hard one until the last so
I can get through and finish the test.

TOTAL'S ACTIVE IDEAS

BY Jean Marki

We urge all pre-service teachers to start their own file with these activities.

"I hear and I forget, I see and I remember, I do and I understand."

CEREAL SPELLING

Early childhood / Elementary language Art

Here is a way to motivate students to recognize letters and words! Give each child a bowl of "Alpha-Bits" cereal. Write a word on the board and instruct children to find or match the letters from their cereal. When the word is complete, spell it together and use it in a sentence. Older children enjoy making as many words as they can from their bowl. Afterwards, let the children "eat their own words."

Feathers In The Wind

The tongue, it has been observed, is the only human instrument which gets sharper with repeated use.

Gossip, like pride may try to deny it's own existence. But it is very real. Even when a story begins with, "I don't mean to gossip, but...."

It often includes detraction, which is deframing another person by telling injurious truth. An untruth is even more despicable. It can never be entirely righted again, as illustrated in this parable:

Centuries ago, a man went to the saint and confessed that he had lied about his neighbor. "Come back tomorrow so we can talk more about this," the saint said, "and bring a huge stack of feathers."

The next day the man returned. the saint took him to the steeple of his church and told him to scatter the feathers into the wind. Then returning to the ground, the saint told the man to pick them up again.

I can't do it!" the sinner cried. And that was true. It would be easier to pick up the feathers, however, than to remedy the injury caused by gossip. His words were scattered as feathers in the wind and could never be completely recovered.

In one way, a despicable lie is less harmful than spreading a damaging truth. At least the lie can be confessed. Passing on a detracting truth can never be rectified.

Spring Day Answer

GET MOVING!

If the word "exercise" makes you think of sweat suits and sore muscles, here's good news for you.

Walking is the safest and easiest form of exercise, and it's very effective. To get the most benefits, walk three times a week for half an hour to forty-five minutes. But remember that even short walks are helpful.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Aging gives you these reasons to "get moving".

✓ Walking can slow the aging process and add vigorous years to your life.

✓ Walking strengthens bones and fights osteoporosis.

✓ It helps you control your weight. Consuming just 100 extra calories a day will soon make you 10 pounds heavier, but just 15 to 20 minutes a day of walking can burn it up.

✓ It helps you tone and strengthen muscles.

✓ Walking helps you maintain a sense of balance and agility, lessening the likelihood of falls and accidents.

✓ It also improves your self-image, relieves stress, and makes you feel better mentally and physically.

Make plans now to get moving and get the benefits walking can give you.

CAMPAIGN '92

More than 400 college students from across the country will have the opportunity to be part of the presidential nominating process through the Washington Center's CAMPAIGN '92 programs on site at the national political conventions this summer. Students have the option to participate in a two week academic seminar on location at the Democratic National Convention in New York City from July 5 - 18 and/or the Republican National Convention in Houston, Texas from August 9 - 22.

Each program will consist of guest speakers, debates, discussions, site visits, and workshops related to the presidential campaign and the party convention. During the actual convention, students will be given fieldwork assignments with the candidates' campaigns, state delegations, media organizations, party officials, convention organizers, interest groups, or other organizations with convention responsibilities. Most colleges will award between two and six credits for completion of the seminar.

The Washington Center is the largest independent, non-profit, educational organization that provides internships and other experimental learning programs to college students. Since the organization was founded in Washington, D.C. in 1975, some 17,000 students representing more than 800 colleges and universities have participated in the Washington Center's programs.

Applications for the CAMPAIGN '92 programs will be accepted on a first come / first serve basis until all spaces are filled. To receive an application or further information contact Maury Tobin, The Washington Center, 750 First Street, NE, Suite 650, Washington, D.C., 20002, or phone (202)336-7609. Information may also be obtained by calling the BULLETIN office on Monday from 6:30 - 7:30.

Student Senate Applications are available in Rhoades, Frame Office, and in the Student Services office-209 Montgomery. Applications must be submitted by April 10th to be on the ballot.

Please let us know if you are interested in running for one of the officer positions as well.

President - Vice President - Treasurer
Elections will be held April 13-14-15.

Paralegal Graduates

Job Hunting? Willing to relocate? Check the announcements on the door of room 201 Montgomery. There are many job opportunities in the Erie and Pittsburgh job market.

All Job Hunters

Be sure to let everyone know that you are available for work. Mention it, not only to friends and family, but to your hairdresser, doctor, mail carrier, etc. The possibilities are exponential! Be sure to consult the Sunday newspaper.

Have you thought about scheduling informational interviews? Do you have your resume polished and ready to go? Do you need to schedule a practice interview that can be video taped and critiqued before you attempt the one that really counts? If you are in need of these services, contact Angel Muschweck in room 206, Montgomery or you can make an appointment by calling 676-6591 ext. 278 or 273.

CAB Applications are available in Rhoades, Frame Office, and the Student Service Office.

If you are interested in being a co-chair for dance, Special Events, Student Union, Cultural Arts, or the publicity committee fill out an application.

This is a great way to get in on the ground floor of campus programming. Get a chance to meet and talk with the stars and dignitaries that visit campus.

This also looks great on a resume because of the leadership skills you can obtain and planning and budgeting that you experience! Elections will be held April 21. Applications are due by April 15th.

My Predictions for the Upcoming Baseball Season

N.L. EAST

N.Y. Mets - The Mets already have quite a few off the field problems. A woman alleged that three Mets raped her last year and another was alleged to have exposed himself to several women. However, the Mets have often had off the field problems, and they are still the winningest team in the majors during the last seven years. Their pitching staff of Dwight Gooden, David Cone, Sid Fernandez, and Bret Saberhagen has the potential to be one of the all-time best. Picking up Bobby Bonilla doesn't hurt either.

Pittsburgh Pirates - Jim Leyland has proven himself to be an excellent manager. The pirates were the first NL team in the last 13 years to repeat as division winners and it says here that it's just to hard to win three in a row. Plus, they've lost John Smiley and Bobby Bonilla.

St Louis Cardinals - They had a surprising year last year, but there are still a lot of question marks.

Chicago Cubs - I wouldn't be surprised if they won the division. Their hitting is as good as anybody's, if not better. You never know when a pitching staff will come together. Since pitching is more volatile than hitting, it is much better to go into a season with proven hitters and unproven pitching.

Philadelphia Phillies - They could surprise also.

Montreal Expos - The only team that cannot win the division.

NL West

Los Angeles Dodgers - They've bought their way to a division title. Eric Davis will be the MVP.

Atlanta Braves - What a Cinderella story! They're for real although I think they'll let down a little. Last years MVP Terry Pendleton will be lucky to hit a .270.

Cincinnati Reds - They'll be better than last year.

San Diego Padres - For the last five years, I've thought they have the team that could win 90 games. They should compete.

San Francisco Giants - Their team doesn't look real good, but Roger Craig can work wonders with a pitching staff.

Cincinnati Reds - They'll be better than last year.

San Diego Padres - For the last five years, I've thought they have the team that could win 90 games. They should compete.

San Francisco Giants - Their team doesn't look too good, but Roger Craig can work wonders with a pitching staff.

Houston Astros - They are the only team that cannot win the division,

AL East

Boston Red Sox - They always have hitting. How is this for a surprise pick, Phil Plantier will be the MVP.

Toronto Blue Jays - Always compete.

Detroit Tigers - Great power, suspect pitching.

Milwaukee Brewers - Should be .500.

New York Yankees - They're not the same without George Steinbrenner.

Baltimore Orioles - A few years away.

Cleveland Indians - There are three certainties in life: Death, taxes, and the Indians will stink.

AL West

Oakland A's - Their pitching will rebound. Tony LaRussa is still a great manager.

Texas Rangers - See Chicago Cubs.

Chicago White Sox - They lost a good manager in Jeff Turlong.

Minnesota Twins - Do you know the odds of 2 teams finishing last one year and playing in the world series the next year? Neither do I, but I'll guarantee you one thing, it won't happen again in our lifetime. (If it does, then Gwen Divido is a better skier than I am.)

Seattle Mariners - Last year was their first year over .500. They picked up Kevin Mitchell from the Giants for 3 nobodies but supposedly he has an attitude problem.

Kansas City Royals - Good pitching, weak hitting.

California Angels - Last year, they were the best last place team in history (81-81). This year, they'll be the second best last place team in history.

Generally, I like to pick a sleeper as one of the division winners, but I just couldn't see it. Come to think of it, in the years I did pick a sleeper, I still didn't see it. Anyhow, the A's will beat the Mets in 7 in the world series.

Career Corner

by Michelle Griebel

Make the right impression first by making the first impression right: Images of Success.

Success--Everyone wants it, but not everyone knows how to get it. It takes savvy, determination, and a winning strategy, and even then success may not come easily.

One of the ways to gain an extra edge in a competitive job market is by developing an impressive professional image for the field of your choice. When all other factors are equal, the subtle messages that your appearance projects to others can dramatically influence your chance of success - from your first interview to that big promotion down the road.

To help you gain some insight into the importance of professional image, the latest issue of "Career Futures" is now available in the office of Career Services.

Stop in and check it out.

Student Survey

I am currently working on a proposal for business writing concerning revising the summer evening course schedule. It would be greatly appreciated and possibly a benefit to students wishing to take summer courses if all students fill out this survey and place it in the box located outside of Frame office. Thank you, Deb Line-man.

Have you taken summer courses in the past? ☐ yes ☐ no

Does the lack of a payment plan enter into your decision not to take summer courses? ☐ yes ☐ no

Would you be in favor of the university adopting a schedule consisting of one ten week session instead of two five-week sessions? ☐ yes ☐ no

I am special

Create a self esteem game about the qualities that make each child special. On small cards write out questions that are open-ended and focus on things kids live to do and qualities they like about themselves and others. Some examples are: Name two ways that you are different from the person next to you. If someone were there to describe you, what three words would you want them to use? What is your favorite activity? What kind of animal would you like to be? Let the students make up questions too. Place them in a bag and have the students sit in a circle. One at a time, each child will pick a question and answer it.

Feeling Stressed Out?

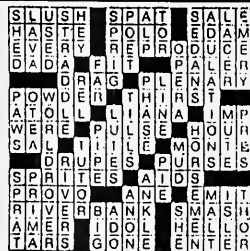

Relaxation tapes are available in the LSC for use in 207 Montgomery Hall. Check out a tape and a tape player from the tutor at LSC, take them across the hall to 207, close the door, and take just a few minutes off. A short break can be effective in reducing stress if you have good relaxation techniques. Use of these tapes will help you learn techniques that you can use anywhere.

Student Services is Looking for a Few Good People

Student Services is looking for people to be Student Mentors, so take this small quiz and see how you rate.

1. Do you have organizational knowledge?
2. Do you have a willingness to be responsible for someone else's growth.
3. Do you enjoy meeting and working with new people?
4. Do you have a Q.P.A. of 2.5 or better?
5. Do you have patience, yet are willing to take risks?
6. Do you like getting paid to help others?

If you answered yes to 2 or more of these questions you have a great potential of being a Student Mentor.

Applications and job descriptions are available in Rhoades, Frame Office, and the Student Services Office--209 Montgomery Hall.

Applications are due by April 22 to Frame Office. Kim Price or Dr. Barb Reagle are available to answer any questions.

This is especially significant for use on a resume. Besides, you will be one of the first people to meet the new incoming freshmen!!

This is a five hour per week, paid position.

Research Project

I need help ASAP getting participants for my doctoral research! Give an hour of your time -- learn a lot of valuable information about family health care. Women between the ages of 40 and 65 are often involved in giving care to elderly loved ones. This research project will study an instructional program on caregiving. Women who participate will watch a slide-tape program designed for community education, and will answer questions about the program. Free information will be given on detecting health problems in elderly loved ones, getting or giving appropriate health care, and local resources. The study will take place the week after Easter. I am offering $3.00 per participant to the treasury of any campus organization represented. Participants should indicate campus organization affiliation on the research questionnaire. Prospective participants should call Pat Marini at 226-2080 before Wednesday, April 15.

Thank You,

Pat Marini, Dept. of Communication

Whats Up?

Well, the semester is quickly coming to an end and I'm not sure whether I have accomplished anything or not. I've done my best to try to improve the quality of the BULLETIN but I haven't had much support. I'd like to hear your comments on the content, style, or format of the BULLETIN. Drop me a note anytime-under my door or in Frame. Thank You, Gwen Divido

Sexual Harassment

Survey

The Presidential Commission on Sexual Harassment is conducting a survey this week off all undergraduate students to determine the nature and extent of sexual harassment at Clarion University. The anonymous results of the survey will help Clarion University deal more effectively with this serious problem.

The experiences and perceptions of Clarion University students are of the utmost importance to the commission. Students should be aware that some of the questions are highly personal and may be uncomfortable to answer. However, the information obtained through this survey will be kept strictly confidential and only reported in aggregate form. The survey results will be shared with the campus community in a forum presentation and through other appropriate means in Fall 1992.

Off-campus students on Clarion Campus and Venango Campus are asked to return completed surveys simply by folding them in half twice so that the school address is showing and drop them in the mail. A box will also be located in Frame Office, Venango or Carlson Library on Clarion Campus.

If you have any questions about this survey, please call Dr. Robert Girvan at 226-2276, or Dr. Mark Haggerty at 226-2625. If you have any questions about sexual harassment, please contact Ralph Watkins, Social Equity Office at 226-2109.

FAMILY SERVICES ACTIVITIES

Training Session

Family Services of Venango County will be starting a Rape Crisis/ Domestic Violence volunteer training session on April 22, 1992, to May 28, 1992. Upon completion of sixty hours of training, you will receive a RC/DV certificate.

"Take Back the Night"

You are invited to "Take Back the Night" March, Rally, and Candlelight Vigil to be held in Sharon, PA from 7 -9pm on April 30th. This is an evening of community awareness of sexual violence in NW Pennsylvania. Transportation may be provided.

For more information on either of these activities - contact Family Services at 677-4005.

Participating in either of the above will qualify you to take advantage of the food share program.

There Is Help

by Cammi Hidingier

We've all experienced it. You are sitting in a gloomy room, staring at it. You can feel a cold sweat forming at your hairline, goose bumps break out all over your body and your hands are trembling. No, you are not watching the latest thriller, you are beginning a paper and that white, blank expanse is just looking up at you, mocking.

Don't give in; help is available. Visit the Write-Inn! There you will find people who have been in the same position. The consultants are students. They are there to help you with the format of your paper, punctuation, grammar, and spelling. They will not do the paper for you, nor will they make corrections you don't want. They simply give suggestions and support.

We also have materials and machines available to aid you in the quest for "The Perfect Paper." There are 4 Apple computers ready to help you with your word processing problems and many books to assist you in every aspect of writing.

Take advantage of this valuable and FREE opportunity, all you have to do is stop in at 105 Frame. There you will find a schedule on our door of our consultants and the hours each is available. Come on over: You will be surprised at what a little feedback and revision can make in your final grade. There is an alternative, you can spend another lonely night staring at that blank paper.

Love Makes the World Go Round

by Tom Irvin

We, as human beings are unique. That is, we are all different from everyone else. However, we do have one thing in common. We all have the need to be loved and feel wanted. Society, however, prevents us from expressing how we feel about others, except within the family unit, thus keeping us to a limited amount of compassion we show towards friends. The problem seems to stem from the stereotyping that is placed on those who appear to be different. This tends to be more of a problem for males because females are generally considered to be more caring and emotional. If you feel a certain level of closeness to someone, what is wrong with telling them? Fear of what others will think usually stops us. But why should we care what someone else thinks? Those that can't accept your friendship with others are the ones missing out on a full life.

To those who fit the above description, I feel sorry for you. You seem to assume that because two people are close, they are sleeping together or something along that line. We all know what they say about people who assume things! With all of the problems in this world, this is one we can all correct single-handedly.

The next time you run across a close friend, regardless of sex, tell them that you treasure their friendship or that you love them for their friendship. This will make you feel good and make their day. If we all did this, we could make the world a little more enjoyable

Snack Bar Request

The snack bar employees ask that the glasses, coffee cups, baskets, and silverware PLEASE be returned after use.

Summer Jobs

There are a number of summer job and internship opportunities available to students. Going Broke: A way of Life

by Lisa Taylor

Money seems to slip through my hands faster than answers to test questions slip out of my fried brain. In fact, I would wager a guess that most of Clarion's merchants, Citibank Visa and AT&T are ecstatic to have me as a patron of their services.

Cash is the hardest for me to hold on to. It's like George Washington himself cries out from the face of the bill, "SPEND ME! It's American!" It doesn't matter if it's late night munchies, movies, magazines or video games. If it gives me temporary amnesia concerning those logic problems or my newswriting assignment, I will shell out my last dollar for that relief.

My ultimate problem is that I have no "spending willpower," especially when it comes to cash.

When I look at a dollar bill in my pocket, I don't see something I could put in the bank. I envision a diet Pepsi and a bag of pretzels. Or four chances to lose miserably at a pinball game.

I have never stuck by the "save the money for a rainy day" theory. Of course, if I followed that advice here in Clarion, my life savings would be gone in a week.

Cash is dangerous, but I think an even more brutal threat comes from the use of the infamous credit card. Who knew that a square of plastic could elicit so much happiness and hatred from one person. Credit. It's the thing I love to hate.

When I am at the check out at the GAP, my Visa is vital to my existence. Of course I want the Rugby shirt and black jeans. They're a real steal.

A month later, I realize how true this is. Robbing parents, good friends, or a passer-by on the street, may be the only way to pay back what I owe. Not exactly the way to make friends and influence people.

Then there's the calling card. Getting the latest long-distance dirt from friends and family is not dirt cheap. After the calls are made - denial sets in. Not me, I never made those calls. This lasts only until the bill comes in and reality is faced.

Let's just say that as long as there are things to buy, places to go, and far-away people to talk to, I will be a continuing force in combatting the recession.

COLLEGE LIFE
by Mary Elizabeth White

The road is long, and hard to travel.

So many notes,
they're hard to unravel.

All the endless classes, professors and tests.

Never enough time,
for even a little rest.

As we look back at what we've done, it's hard to believe there was time for fun.

Friends have become family, the memories you want to renew.

But over the years,
we've seen our dreams come true.

Now it's time to say our goodbyes, trying so hard not to cry.

May we meet somewhere in time, to see again, an old friend of mine.

Going to Main Campus in the Fall??

Where are my classrooms? What procedures do I go through to get my books? Where do I park? Is there a center like Rhoades? Where do I eat my lunch? How can I find someone to car pool with?.....???????

ALO (Adult Learners Organization, Venango Campus) in cooperation with RACS (Returning Adult and Commuting Students, Main Campus) would like to help answer all of your questions. Therefore, we are having an orientation the week before the fall semester begins. At that time, we will meet on Main Campus (some may choose to car pool from Venango), take you through the procedure of getting your books, and give you a tour of the campus. All you need to do now is sign up at Rhoades and leave your phone number so we can contact you when a date has been set.

We will be there to make your transfer as smooth as possible. Enjoy your summer! We'll see you in August.

Students Rally by Gara Smith

Over 500 students representing cities, towns and communities throughout the commonwealth went to Harrisburg for "State System Day 1992."

They delivered their message that PA's leaders must maintain good funding to preserve the quality of educational opportunities offered by the 14 State System of Higher Education universities.

"I admire our students' determination to speak up for their future and for the future of those who will follow. It is gratifying to see so many students who care about the quality of their education come to the capital to meet with legislators," Chancellor James H. McCormick said.

Letter to the Editor:

by Howard Whiting

When some professors, more specifically, English professors, read and grade student papers, they do not show much empathy. If they did, they would better understand where the students are coming from and what the students are trying to say.

Maybe the reason they are so critical of the student's writing is because they had difficult teachers also and didn't receive many A's themselves.

I think that some professors must not have passed mathematics because I have one instructor that cant count past 70 when it comes to grading my papers.

I think some instructors do not want to give out many A's because the Chairman of their department may question their teaching methods.

How is one supposed to learn anything when the instructor has no consideration for the students? This has caused me to develop psychological stress because I never know what the instructor wants, yet some students can do no wrong!! This frustrates the *#/?@ out of me!

No matter how well I write a paper, the instructor will nit pick and find something wrong with the writing.

In my opinion, instructors like this are a waste of my time and money!

Sorry I got carried away, but that's life - grin and bear it.

Editor's Question Box

Well, as you all know, we have just returned, dreadfully, from Spring Break. So, the question for this week is....What did you do for break?

Just jot down what you did for break and put it in the BULLETIN mailbox in Frame and the responses will be printed in next weeks paper. The person that submits the most interesting or unusual answer will receive a prize.

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH FINALS

1. Know when and where the exam is given. You'd be surprised how many students miss finals because of a mix up on scheduling.
2. Plan your study time. Use your time to your best advantage - make a study chart giving so much time to each sub.
3. Reward yourself. For every hour of REAL studying, take a 10 min. break.
4. Break up your subjects. It's hard to concentrate on one subject for hours at a time.
5. Be good to yourself. Eat well and sleep as much as possible.
6. Don't depend on study groupsunless you and the others have already studied the material.
7. Study what's important. Use a syllabus, earlier tests and your impressions to decide what to study.
8. Ask yourself questions. Just reading the stuff will drive you nuts.
9. Study backwards. You are most likely to forget what was taught at the beginning of the quarter, so start with the most recent material and move back so you study the early stuff just before the test.
10. Relax for half-hour before the test. Talk to a friend, eat a sundae, run around the drill field screaming-what-ever relaxes you.

Take Weight Off Without Getting Ripped Off

Diet books, powders, pills, and devices are taking cash out of the pockets of dieters. In return, dieters often get disappointing, temporary weight loss, and may even endanger their health.

The answer to weight loss is not found in miracles or new discoveries. To lose weight, a person must use more calories than are taken in. It can be done by eating less, exercising more, or a combination of both.

Most men can lose two pounds a week consuming 1500 to 1600 calories a day. Women need fewer calories. They will lose by cutting back to 1000 to 1200 calories a day.

The Federal Department of Agriculture says that basic principles of healthy weight loss apply to both sexes:

*Consult a physician before starting a very restricted diet.

*Aim for a weight loss of one to two pounds a week.

*Reduce portion sizes but maintain a balanced diet including all of the food groups.

*Limit intake of fats, sweets, and high-calorie foods.

*Exercise regularly.

Once extra weight is lost, dieters should be aware of what made them gain weight before, and avoid those practices. Remember with a lighter body, fewer calories are required for energy.

Keeping a proper body weight is a lifetime endeavor.

"Somehow, he's able to pedal it to the refrigerator."

1 in 10 Will be Addicted

by Tom Irwin

There are many forms of addiction. These can range from drugs, alcohol, sex, food, compulsive spending, and gambling, to name a few.

Many of these can cause physical and/or psychological dependence. One of the most common forms of addiction is that of alcohol and other drugs. Without the means to alleviate tension or anxiety the person may feel unable to deal with situations and is, in a sense, out of control.

The addict usually has a profound effect on their family and friends. People who make an attempt to stop others behavior are usually considered to be an intrusion on their personal life and the addict feels that it is "nobody else's business." Remember, this person is sick and only they can help themselves. They have to want to change their behavior and it is only at this point that you can be of help.

However, there are things that the friends and family of the addict can do. Use "tough love" but don't criticize them. Be supportive. Do not enable (or help) this person to continue the behavior. Let them know you're concerned and love them but you can't stand what they are doing to themselves or you. Tell them that you won't watch them destroy their life. Most important, be there when they do cry out for help. At this point, they are going to be hurting mentally and physically. (cont. pg 2)

YEARBOOKS !

The 1992 PATHFINDER is now on sale in Rhoades Center. Graduating students will receive their books without charge. All other students can order on for $2.00 a copy. Money is due when you place your order.

The BULLETIN is published periodically by Venango Campus, 1801 West First Street, Oil City. Articles in it reflect the philosophy of Venango Campus students and do not necessarily represent the views of Clarion University. CUP is committed to equal opportunities and affirmative action for all persons in its education program activities and employment practices. Direct equal opportunity inquiries to Assistant to the President for Social Equity, 216 Carrier Administration Building.

Their self-esteem and self-worth will be very low. They will need to know that you haven't abandoned them.

For friends and family of the addict-there is help for you too. There are many support groups and literature on how to deal with the addictions of others. Remember that it is estimated that 1 of 10 people will have some type of addiction. A large number of these people will also have another form of addiction. With this problem and the world-wide high ratio, it is possible that someone in your life is or will be affected with the disease of addiction. For more information check out the campus and local library or call one of the numbers listed below. If you have a problem with yourself, I plead with you, get the help you need before it's too late. There are people to help guide you through the rough spots. You CAN NOT do it on your own! It takes a fellowship of men and women working towards a common goal to help addicts.

Foreman Not Over the Hill But He Can See the Top of It by John Greci

George Foreman fought Alex Stewart on April 11th. If you watched the fight, you had to feel sorry for "Big George". His eyes were puffy early on and they were nearly shut by the end of the fight. It was said that he weighed 259, but the weigh-in was early in the day. Who knows how many cheeseburgers he ate that day.

I was waiting for what the so-called boxing experts would say in the papers the following Monday. I figured that there had to be commentaries on the fact that George Foreman is too old and should not be boxing. To my surprise, I found nothing mentioned except to give the facts of the fight. I figured that it was either because they felt there was nothing to comment on or the fight wasn't big enough to comment on. They probably thought the latter.

Certainly, many of the people watching the fight had to feel that Foreman shouldn't be fighting at his age and he shouldn't risk getting hurt. Age, however, has nothing to do with it. His weight (conditioning) had everything to do with it. As I mentioned, his weight was given at 259, but perhaps the scale was broken. He really looked closer to 289. During the fourth round, he hammed it up for the photographers, while getting hit with an unblocked punch from Stewart. It was obvious that he took the fight too lightly.

Actually, Foreman has a much less chance of getting hurt than most 25 year old fighters. Most fighters will tell that knockouts (thus, chances to get hurt) are more likely to occur when you get hit unexpectedly and not because of inability to block a punch. If there is one thing that Foreman does have, it is ring savvy. Also, as slow as he is, he is a reasonably good defensive fighter.

George has no business being in the ring with the shape he is in. But please don't tell me it was because of his age. As George will tell you, "40 is not a death sentence." He is not an old man. He is not even an old fighter. But he is very out of shape.

Some people will say I'm dreaming (much like George) when I say he can still become the heavyweight champion. In addition to his ring savvy, which means a great deal, he has more stamina than people give him credit for. The reason is that he is at peace with the world, his intestinal fortitude will take him a long way. Foreman also has a great deal of heart, which he showed in the Evander Holyfield fight, when he weathered some tremendous flurries. And he still hits harder than anyone in the division. If he gets in the necessary shape, he can beat anybody. But that is a big "if."

Mock Interviews to be Given on Campus

The Oil City Rotary Club has nine members who are anxious and wanting to help Venango students to get jobs. When community members are willing to come onto campus and volunteer their time for the benefit of our students, the least we can do is offer a decent response.

If you want to take part in a practice interview, you must contact student services in Montgomery ASAP. You must bring some sort of a resume to Student Services at least 4 days before your scheduled interview. If you need help writing a resume, contact Student Services to make an appointment.

Why bother to sign up for a practice interview??? Many times students who practice interview have the opportunity to work out all of the quirks in their interview style. If you are planning to find local employment, what better opportunity to know what area business people are looking for. Perhaps the person you interview with may have a lead on a job that is just right for you. If you leave a good impression, that interviewer may remember you. If in the meantime he/she hears of a job opening, chances are, your name may come up. THESE ARE NOT INTERVIEWS FOR JOB OPENINGS, but any practice and exposure to the business community could increase your chances of employment.

These last few weeks are busy ones, but take the time to call and schedule a mock interview. It could make the difference in your career!!!

The LSC Game

by Jean Rankin

Well baseball fans, it's crruunch time. Pitching coach Price has just been out to talk to our starting pitcher Justa Student. Justa has been pitcheing a great game, but has faltered a bit here in this final inning. Manager Reagle has called the dugout to get a relief pitcher throwing. Yes, fans, it's Ace Tootore up throwing. Oh no, Justa has just loaded the bases and is in a jam. Dugout coach Rankin has signaled the Tootore is ready. The change is being made---- Tootore is in for Justa Student to try and save the game and this 91-92 season for Student! Don't you lose it all at the end. We'll be here at the LSC up to the bitter end to help you.

C.E.C.

C.E.C. held a Bowl-a-Thon on March 29, at Seneca Lanes. Over $650.00 was raised for Easter Seals. C.E.C. would like to thank their family and friends for making this activity so successful.

SENATE

Student Senate would like to take this opportunity to congratulate all of the graduating seniors and to wish them the best of luck in the future.

The returning Senators are looking forward to serving you next year and hope that next year will be a successful one.

We would also like to thank everyone that helped to make this year a success. We wish everyone a safe and enjoyable summer.

SNACK BAR

The Snack Bar will be open regular hours on Monday and Tuesday of finals week - look for signs for Wednesday and Thursday hours.

Anyone who would like the snack bar to be open extra hours or specials served during finals week - please write your requests down and turn them in to Pat at the Snack Bar.

We would appreciate it if the dishes from the snack bar are returned ASAP.

MATH AND ENGLISH PLACEMENT TESTS

The following are the dates for the English and math placement tests. If you have not taken Math 110 or English 111 and plan to take them sometime in the future, you will need to take the placement tests. If you have completed Math 100 and English 105, then you do not need to take the placement tests.

Clarion tests will be given at Still Hall, Carter Auditorium. Please register before hand by calling 226-3354.

Venango tests will be given in Rhoades Auditorium. Please call Frame Office at 676-6591 or drop in to register.
